City Loses Out on Slum Clearance Proposal

FUNDS USED UP BEFORE BOARD IS NAMED HERE

Failure of Officials to Pick Housing Authority Dooms Mansfield Allocation.

FEDERAL AGENCY 'BROKE'

69 Millions Earmarked for Slum Projects; City Had Sought $2,000,000.

The city of Mansfield today had lost its chance to gain a proposed $2,000,000 low cost federal housing project because city and county officials failed to set up a Metropolitan Housing Authority here or apply for an allocation before the federal funds ran out.

This was disclosed in dispatches from Washington today which quoted Housing Administrator Nathan Straus as saying that the Federal Housing Authority was "broke."

42 Cities Share In Funds.

The announcement came after $69,000,000 was earmarked by the authority for slum clearance in 42 cities scattered throughout the nation.

Today's earmarkings used up the $800,000,000 which had been voted to the housing authority by congress. It is expected that further funds for slum clearance will be asked when the new congress convenes in January.

Of the $69,000,000 earmarked today, $23,100,000 was set aside for local housing authorities in 15 cities which had not previously participated in the federal program. The remaining $46,500,000 was added to other funds allotted 27 cities.

New earmarkings included Canton, $2,000,000 and additional earmarkings of $3,000,000 for Cincinnati and $2,000,000 for Columbus.

Mayor Still Has Hopes.

Mayor Claude M. Hunter, who has backed the low cost housing plan since last April when it was first proposed by the Chamber of Commerce said today that he hadn't given up hopes of obtaining funds to carry out the program here.

"I'm highly in favor of appointing the local authority here with the hopes that it will be organized in case any future allocation are made by congress," he said.

He added that he intended to bend every effort in that direction since the city and the county "have a $200 investment to protect."

The city and county, both appropriated $100 to conduct the preliminary housing survey here several months ago. They later petitioned the state housing board for permission to create a Metropolitan Housing Authority, which was granted.

LaGuardia Under Guard As Letter Threatens Death

NEW YORK—(UP)—A special police force was arranged for Mayor F. H. LaGuardia at his citizens' rally against oppression at Carnegie hall tonight because of a threat against his life.

Fingerprint and ballistics experts of the police department and post office inspectors examined a letter and a loaded cartridge enclosed in it. The letter said: "You will get this if you continue to attack the German Nazi party." The signature was a reversed swastika—the Nazi emblem backwards. The bullet was a .22 caliber long. It was encased in a small cardboard box. The handwriting was bold and upright.

LaGuardia took the letter seriously. It was postmarked Long Island City, N. Y., at midnight Wednesday and arrived with the first mail at city hall yesterday.

"Usually I ignore messages like this from cranks, but this one is different and I think it should be made public," the mayor said. He said it was the first letter he had ever received directly threatening his life.

GUN FALLS, KILLS BOY

LANCASTER—(AP)—A shotgun knocked to the floor at a home in Rushville by two boys wrestling playfully was discharged and the blast fatally injured George Boring, 10, last night. His companion was Wilbur Winegarner, 11.

Hundreds Do Their 'Bit' For Yule Ball

WHILE the first check on the sale of tickets for the Christmas ball and midnight show will not be made until next week, there are actually hundreds of them being sold.

Within a few days ringside boxes will be as scarce as the proverbial hen's molars. There are only 28 boxes and more than half of them have been reserved already. Reservations are being made with the box committee chairman, Mrs. A. J. Zahniser, Spring 3719 or at the office of the Three Muster-Cheers, Canal 3661.

The boxes will be arranged along the north and south sides of the big dance floor so that occupants may see both the dancing and the show that will be staged at 11:30.

Boxes will have 10 chairs and are being sold for $5. The cost of the box is in addition to the admission price of 75 cents per person. The sale of the boxes will add $140 to the profits from the big charity event.

Mansfield's Community Christmas baskets this year will be made possible through the ball and show. The number to be distributed the day before Christmas to needy families will depend upon the amount of money made through the sale of tickets and cash contributions.

There are several hundred names already on the list of families who will receive baskets, many of them being the neediest of the old couples who are entirely dependent upon old age pensions.

But also on the list are the destitute blind and cripples; men who have only two days a week work and are supporting large families, and widows whose responsibilities far outreach their pocketbooks.

Just how many of these worthy cases will have big, generous Christmas dinner, depends upon how many persons dance at the Christmas ball and see the midnight show.

GIRL INDICTED IN FRAUD CASE

Former Secretary of Norwalk Auto Dealer Among 12 Cited by County Grand Jury.

Indictments against 12 persons, including Miss Caroline Borgia, 26, of Norwalk, accused as an accomplice in defrauding the Mansfield office of the Crawford Finance company of several thousand dollars, were returned late yesterday by the county grand jury.

The jury considered 13 cases and examined 23 witnesses, refusing to indict in only one case. Four of the indictments were secret.

Miss Borgia, former secretary for a Norwalk automobile dealer, was indicted on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. She was accused specifically of obtaining $610 from the

FAVORS 1 TERM

Nebraska Senator to Offer Amendment on Presidency.

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Sen. Burke (D., Neb.), said today he would introduce a constitutional amendment in the next congress limiting presidents of the United States to one term of six years each.

Burke's announcement came with expansion of the controversy over the possibility of a third term for President Roosevelt. Although the president has made no statement, some of his friends, both in and out of congress, have indicated that they would urge him to seek a third term.

Burke, an opponent of most New Deal legislation and opposed to a third term, said that his "compelling reason" for proposing such an amendment was what he saw as a trend toward more power for the chief executive. He said his statement was not directed at the present administration solely, saying the general trend of government for many years had been in that direction.

SEIZES SUGAR PLANT

MEXICO CITY—(AP)—The government disclosed today that rich sugar plantations owned by the United Sugar company, an American concern, in Sinaloa state near Los Mochis, would be expropriated and distributed among peasants.

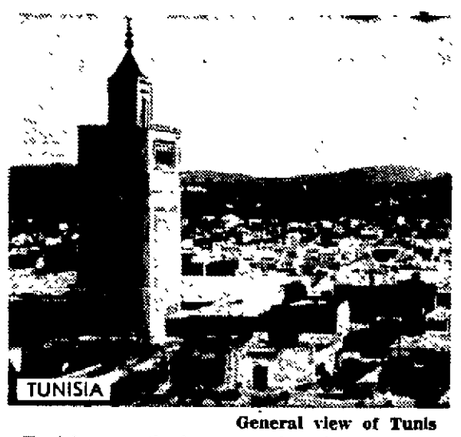
What Italy Wants From France

(By Associated Press)

WHEN Italian deputies, Fascist party members, and newspapers clamor for Tunisia, Djibouti, Corsica, Savoy and Nice, they are demanding territories that never have been a part of modern Italy.

France grabbed most of the territories in good imperial fashion before a unified Italy emerged from a bunch of principalities in 1860. She snatched control of Tunisia not from Italy but from a native Bey . . . got Djibouti by signing a treaty with illiterate Somali sultans . . . received an exhausted Corsica from a Genoese government that wanted to spite Great Britain . . . and won Savoy and Nice in a political horse-trade.

Geographically, Tunisia juts out from African mainland toward Italy . . . Djibouti, in French Somaliland, is 2,000 miles from Italy and France . . . the island Corsica lies near Italy . . . Nice and Savoy, in France proper, border on Italy. Take a closer look at the five.

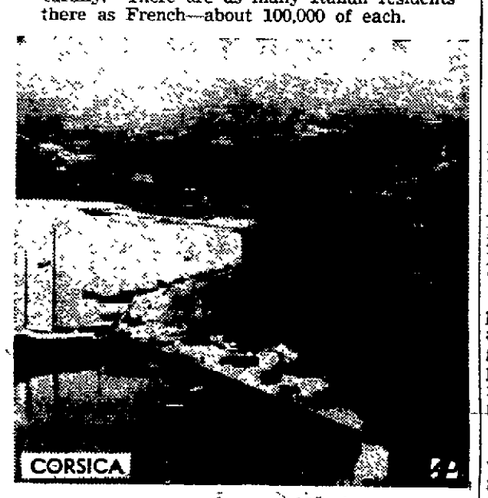


General view of Tunis

Tunisia, once the hang-out of Barbary pirates, was seized by France in 1881. Raiding French troops forced the native Bey to accept France's "protection." At the time, Italians were colonizing Tunisia and thought France was sympathetic. The country is fairly rich agriculturally. There are as many Italian residents there as French—about 100,000 of each.

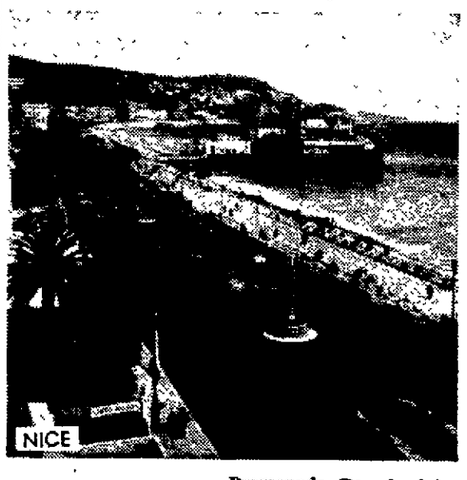
Selling bread at the station

Djibouti, capital of French Somaliland, is built on mud-flats facing the Red sea. As France's only port on the Suez canal route, it is strategically valuable. As terminus of the only railway to Addis Ababa, capital of Italian-conquered Ethiopia, it is attractive to Italy. France got Somaliland between 1883-87 by treaties with native chiefs, fixed its boundaries by treaties with Britain and Italy.

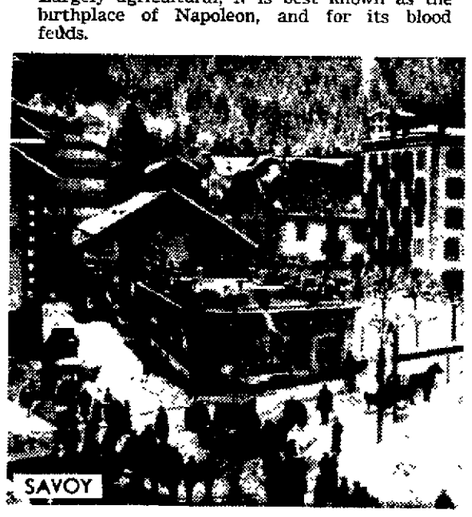


Waterfront at Calvi

Until Corsica fell into French hands a century ago, it was one of the world's most fought-over pieces of land. Genoa signed a treaty in 1768 selling it to France; twice later Britain grabbed the island, which finally became France's in 1815. It is 114 miles long, 60 wide. Largely agricultural, it is best known as the birthplace of Napoleon, and for its blood feuds.



Promenade Des Anglais



Winter scene at Chamonix

Italians have never forgotten that their King Victor Emanuel's House of Savoy got its name from the same Duchy of Savoy that was given to France as part of a deal in 1860. . . . Savoy and Nice were parts of the constitutional state, Sardinia-Piedmont, that was fighting to unify all Italy by driving out Austrians and local princes. That state could do this only with the help of some other strong nation—and Napoleon III of France volunteered. His reward was two slices of land on his border, Savoy and Nice . . . Savoy, now covered by two French departments, is located in the Alps, is noted for its wine and dairy products. Nice—a county in 1860—is now capital of the Alps Maritime province. It is famed for its mild climate, its resorts, its perfume factories.

Believes Anna Hahn's Letters Hold Complete Confession of Poisonings

Attorney to Open Them After He Rests From Ordeal of Case.

CINCINNATI — (UP) — There is "every reason to believe" Anna Marie Hahn, Cincinnati poison murdress executed Wednesday night, made a complete confession of her crimes, Joseph H. Hoodin and Hiram C. Bolsinger, her attorneys, said today.

Four envelopes which Mrs. Hahn turned over to him just before she went to her death, contain the answer, Hoodin said.

He will not open the envelopes for several days "until I collect myself from the exhaustion resulting from the experience of the past several days," Hoodin said.

Hoodin, who directed the last-hour legal fight to save the blond Bavarian from the electric chair Wednesday night in Columbus, said Mrs. Hahn had asked for him on her last walk to the death chamber.

"Several times during the last three days before Mrs. Hahn was executed and I visited her in her cell, she told me she would have something for me," Hoodin asserted. "She told me that she wanted to talk to me when all hope for her was gone."

Not until one hour before the scheduled electrocution did Hoodin lose in the final court battle before Federal Judge Mell G. Underwood who refused a writ of habeas corpus.

"When I visited her for the last time after the habeas corpus writ was refused, I told her I had no further steps," Hoodin related.

"Mrs. Hahn motioned me to get her papers in a section of the cell. I collected them but when I started to talk with her again she was so overcome that she was not coherent," he said.

Fight Looms As County Gets Ready To Let Paving Project

County commissioners planned today to award a contract to the second lowest bidder on a $68,000 PWA county road project, but were confronted with the possibility of a delay in final approval of the award that may cost the county federal aid for the project.

On the recommendation of PWA officials at Columbus, C. L. Mitchell, chairman of the board of commissioners, said an award probably would be made this afternoon to the Mansfield Asphalt Paving company on its bid of $54,675.

However, W. W. Purdy of the Purdy Construction company, low bidder, said: "We will protect our interests if the contract is let to a higher bidder." His company bid $49,598.

Commissioners indicated, however, that they would reject the Purdy bid because it called for the use of gravel while the county plans to use a limestone base in the resurfacing of 95 miles of county roads.

The bid must be approved by the county commissioners and PWA by Dec. 31 to insure federal aid. The PWA allotment would be about $30,600, or 45 per cent of the entire cost.

Purdy contended that his bid should win since the advertisement for bids did not specify the use of stone.

FRANCE READY TO FIGHT FOR HER COLONIES

Nation Would Go to War, If Necessary, to Prevent Tunisia Invasion.

ITALY MASSES TROOPS

40,000 in Northern Spain But French Believe They're for Spanish War.

BULLETIN

ROME—(INS)—Italy will accept a solution of the current French-Italian crisis only on the basis of territorial compensation, it was indicated today by Premier Mussolini's spokesman.

(By Associated Press)

PARIS—Sources close to Premier Daladier said today that France would fight, if necessary, to defend Tunisia.

The same sources said that Italy's military chances of attacking and seizing Tunisia from Libya or from the sea were "zero."

They viewed the Italian campaign for the French protectorate as simply a "propaganda advance guard" for other and more temperate demands concerning the rights of Italians living in Tunisia.

Watch Troop Movement.

Reports that Italian troops were massing in insurgent Spain near the French frontier, however, were said to be receiving the closest attention of the war ministry.

The French view appeared to be that the troop movements in Spain were concerned only with a future insurgent drive against Catalonia but France took no chances. French military sources said that if the reports were confirmed the defense ministry might increase Pyrenees fortifications and take additional precautions by strengthening troops in that region.

These reports, received here yesterday from the border, said 40,000 Italian troops had been massed in northern Spain.

French military sources were scornful of Italy's chances of seizing Tunisia.

They pointed out that Tunisia had been the eastern outpost of France since 1883 and, as such, had long been well-protected.

Well Protected.

A line of fortifications modelled after France's famed Maginot line covers the flat approaches to Tunisia from the seacoast to the rise of the desert plateau. Beyond the "African Maginot line' southern Tunisia's eastern frontier is well spotted with block houses manned by some of France's fin-

DODD RELEASED

Ex-Ambassador Out on Bond in 'Hit-Skip' Accident.

HANOVER COURTHOUSE, Va. —(AP)—William E. Dodd, sr., former ambassador to Germany, will be given a preliminary hearing Dec. 17 in the trial justice court at Ashland, Va., on a charge of hit-and-run driving.

Dodd, who was returned here last night, posted bond of $2,000, which was furnished by T. Justin Moore, Richmond attorney and friend of the Dodd family. The former ambassador is charged with failing to stop after his car struck and injured Gloria Grimes, four-year-old colored child, near here Monday.

When taken before trial Justice Robert T. Winston last night Dodd said the mishap was "entirely an accident."

"I didn't stop, first," Dodd said, "because I wasn't sure I had hit him (the girl was dressed in boy's clothing) and second, as an ex-ambassador, I didn't want to make a sensation."

COLD WEEK-END

It's Weatherman's Promise: Rain Changing to Snow Forecast.

Snow flurries and a chilly weekend were in prospect today, with the weatherman predicting rain turning to snow tonight and cloudy and colder Saturday.

Despite the misty, dreary weather, temperatures remained above normal, with the average for the past 24 hours at 38.5 degrees, about nine degrees above normal. The low last night was 31 degrees.

Baby Swallows Iron Bolt

PAINESVILLE — (U.P.) — Unaware of the crisis he is facing, 18-months-old Donald Pierce lies in Lake County Memorial hospital here today, a two-inch iron bolt in his stomach.

The child, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Pierce of Thompson, near here, picked the bolt from the floor and swallowed it before his mother could stop him.

A fluoroscopic examination Thursday revealed the bolt lying in Donald's stomach. Physicians are making efforts to encourage natural elimination of the bolt.

SEES AMERICAS BULWARKED BY 'IRON DEFENSE'

Secretary Hull Warns Europe, Asiatic Powers of Aims of Pan-American Parley.

(By International News Service)

LIMA, Peru—Secretary of State Cordell Hull went on record today with a sharp warning to European and Asiatic powers that a common defense bulwark against outside agression will be sought at the Pan-American conference, which opens today.

Hull, in an internationally broadcast radio speech, said that peace and preservation of American institutions form the main objectives outlined for the parley.

'Concerns Us All.'

"We are determined," he declared, "that peace shall be maintained on the American continent and we are in agreement that any menace to that peace is a matter of concern to us all.

"We shall seek to implement and make more effective the measures already adopted to that end."

In effect Hull thus served notice that a determined effort will be made to obtain action on President Roosevelt's suggestion of a western hemisphere continental defense system.

In this connection, it was understood on reliable authority that several Central American republics are strongly inclined to sign bilateral treaties with the United States for defense.

Central American delegates were believed to have reached an agreement "in principle" on this matter when they conferred with Hull last night.

The American secretary of state laid down this program for the conference:

1. An effort to obtain international peace and "as a corollary the preservation of our American institutions and of our system of international relations based upon the peaceful settlement of all international disputes."

2. Economic collaboration "for the welfare of all the American peoples."

3. Fortification of international law.

Got Your Can Yet, Kids? First Yule Matinee Tomorrow

Hi, Kids, have you got that big can of tomatoes or peaches ready for the first "can matinee" tomorrow morning at the Onio theater.

If you haven't, get a move on. You know Dick Purcell, the great big Action-and-Thrill man of the movies—well, he's going to be shown in a picture that will demonstrate why hockey is called the fastest and most thrilling game in the world. "King of Hockey," the feature picture, combines action and romance, while the comedies, "I Wanna Be A Sailor" and "The Lion Mouse" will give you something to giggle over.

Of course the show is the important thing — but don't forget that it takes a can of fruit vegetables to get you into the theater. And when you're selecting your contribution to the Christmas baskets, remember that some boy or girl your own age, may get your gift.

So make it a nice gift—a great big can of fruit or vegetables.

The doors open at 9:30 and the show starts promptly at 10 a. m.

POLICE SOLVE BANK HOLDUPS WITH CAPTURE

Ohio Patrolmen Seize 2 Men, 2 Women After Abduction of Patrol Corporal.

ROBBED TWO OHIO BANKS

Officer Forced Into Bandit Car After Investigating Downstate Mishap.

(By Associated Press)

LEBANON — Three bank robberies and a series of automobile thefts were cleared up today, Supt. Lynn Black of the Ohio highway patrol said, with the arrest of two men and two women for the kidnaping of a patrol corporal.

The bank robberies were the $2,700 holdup in Sebring, O., yesterday; a $7,000 robbery in Columbiana county, Ohio, Dec. 31, 1937, and an $800 job in Fairfield, Neb., Nov. 16.

Four automobiles, including one which Black said was taken from a Fairfield banker, were involved in the quartet's meeting with Corp. Parker W. Powell, 29, who was abducted after discovering they were heavily armed.

One Prison Fugitive.

Colonel Black identified the four held as David I. Cross, 29, of Hamilton, Pa.; Coy Russell, 29, of Houston, Tex.; Marie Day, 25, of Greenup, Ky., and Norma Hayes, 25, of Ashland, Ky. He said Russell escaped from the Ramsey prison farm in Texas two years ago while serving an automobile theft sentence.

Powell reported that the four forced him into his own patrol car early last night near Waynesville and dumped him, manacled with his own handcuffs, into a field ten miles away. The kidnaping followed Powell's investigation of an accident in which the quartet was involved.

Besides the robbery yesterday, Colonel Black declared that the men also had admitted robbing a Kent, O., liquor store of $54 on Tuesday and that Cross admitted a series of 16 robberies involving Pennsylvania liquor stores.

The quartet was questioned at the patrol barracks in Wilmington, then brought here. No charges were filed immediately.

Prosecutor C. Donald Dilatush indicated that he would charge the quartet with kidnaping and auto theft, while Lieut. A. O. Smith said the patrol would press "plenty of charges" as an aftermath of a manhunt participated in by more than 250 state, city, and county officers.

Taken From Bus.

The two men were picked off a Columbus-bound bus at Washington Court House and police there said one of them was carrying Powell's pistol.

The night's events started when a new car with stolen Missouri license plates was wrecked.

Corporal Powell was sent from Wilmington to investigate the ac-

DRIVER CHARGED

Youth Accused of Manslaughter in Crash Death.

WILLARD—John Leitz, jr., 19, of Willard, was held to the grand jury today on a charge of involuntary manslaughter in the death of his companion, Robert Kenne 20, also of Willard, in an automobile accident near Monroeville early Thursday. Leitz was released on $500 bond by Justice of Peace Kent Woodward at a hearing yesterday.

Kenne was killed when the car driven by Leitz sideswiped a truck on a curve.

Mary Rita McKenzie, 19, of Norwalk, also riding with Leitz, suffered two broken ribs, a broken collar bone and may lose her left eye, it was reported today. She is in Norwalk hospital.

Funeral services for Kenne will be held at his home at 1:30 p. m. Sunday and at Trinity Lutheran church at 2 p. m.

est native and continental troops. Almost all the senior officers are veterans of desert warfare in Morocco.

On the other hand, Italy's adjoining colony of Libya was said by French military experts to be particularly vulnerable from Tunisia.

Northern Tunisia, including the capital, has its coastal flank protected by the foothills of the Atlas mountains. Libya, however, has no such natural defenses, the French said, and would be easy prey to mechanized and horse units of France's north African forces.

Armed Guards Patrol Streets In Tunis.

TUNIS, Tunisia — (AP) — Armed mobile guards rushed here from Algeria patrolled the streets today while French troops throughout Tunisia were held in their barracks awaiting developments in the French-Italian crisis.

Reports from interior cities indicated various Arab and native organizations had joined with the French colony in demonstrations against Italian demands for control of Tunisia.

One person was wounded gravely and three slightly in disorders which accompanied mass demonstrations by Italians, French and Arabs in Tunis yesterday.

The disorders brought the arrest of ten Italians for "seditious cries" and caused France to rush three platoons of mobile guards, totalling 100 men, from Algeria to reinforce police who already were patrolling all key streets.

The Fascist newspaper Unione called upon the Italian colony to remain "calm and strong," but accused the French and Arab populace of provocation.

Italian residents were reported to have warned that they would draw up a self-defense corps if the anti-Italian disorders continued, but French officials denied this was true.

WINS PAROLE

Mansfielder Before Court on Delinquency Charge.

A 22-year-old man brought before Judge C. J. Anderson in probate court this morning on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 16-year-old high school girl was given a suspended sentence of one year and paroled to E. C. Fuller, police identification officer.

The man is Albert Damals, of 33 Park drive, who was arrested near the Senior high school at 8 a. m. yesterday, according to a report filed at 7 p. m. yesterday by Fuller and Harry Copper, assistant county probation officer.

They charged that Danals had been "running around" with the girl, a student at Senior high school and had taken her to several beer parlors.

Judge Anderson said he had given Danals a suspended workhouse sentence because his wife is an expectant mother. He said he had not yet talked to the girl, who is to be brought before him by the officers within the next few days.

HOLDS VENISON SUPPER

The Cross and Crown Sunday school class of St. Matthew's Lutheran church will hold its annual venison supper at 6:30 p. m. today in the church parlors.

The program arranged for the event includes Ronald Boffenmyer, magician from Ashland; the Mansfield All-Girl orchestra, directed by Will Kurtz: Gene Gump, and harmonica selections by Charles Schneider and John Pashcilich. Floyd Dent, teacher of the class, is in charge of arrangements.

Preaches Sunday

Prof. Alva J. McClain, president of Grace Theological Seminary, Akron, will be guest speaker Sunday morning at the First Brethren church at Ankenytown. Prof. McClain, a former teacher at the Philadelphia School of the Bible, and The Bible Institute of Los Angeles, will speak during the church service at 11 a. m. In the evening he will be at the First Brethren church at Danville.

CITED FOR MILK CODE VIOLATION

The first violation of the milk code adopted by the Mansfield board of health two years ago brought a Mansfield woman before Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch in municipal court today on a charge of selling milk without a permit.

She was Mrs. Frank H. Cyphers, 62 Rowland avenue, who was given a suspended fine of $75 on payment of the costs. She entered a plea of guilty. Mrs. Cyphers was arrested on a warrant signed by S. H. Young, health department dairy inspector, who said that the woman had no permit and that the milk sold by her was not properly labeled.

YULE CAROLS TO RING OUT NEXT WEEK DURING COMMUNITY SING

The Yule spirit will spread throughout downtown Mansfield next week when the annual community sing will be conducted by the Mansfield Public Parks association and the Retail Merchants' association at Central park.

Edward Wyllie has been named chairman of the parks association committee arranging the affair, which will be held from 7:30 p. m. to 8:30 p. m. next Friday in Central park.

There will be orchestral music, solos and carol singing. Choirs of all city churches and other singing organizations have been asked to participate. Choirs or glee clubs that will take park in the event have been asked to notify Wyllie at Canal 2817.

The community singing will be led by a man dressed as Santa Claus.

Starting on Dec. 19, there will be a daily concert for one hour each evening from the Baku Grotto hall in the King building, sponsored by the same groups. The programs will be broadcast through the downtown district by a public address system.

HELD IN CAPITAL

Woman Arrested in East on Charge Filed by Hotel.

Sheriff E. P. Long had obtained papers today for the extradition of Miss Julia Pond, held in Washington, D. C., for Mansfield authorities, but he awaited information from Washington before he goes there to return her to Richland county.

Arrested by Washington police on a charge filed last spring, Miss Pond, whose home is in Ft. Wayne, Ind., is accused of defrauding the Mansfield-Leland hotel of $40.12 last February.

She allegedly left the city owing the hotel that amount for a room and meals. The warrant for her arrest was signed by J. Reynolds Hodgson, manager of the hotel.

Sheriff Long said he had been informed by Washington police that it would be necessary to produce a witness from Mansfield for a hearing for Miss Pond in Washington, probably early next week.

DIVORCES 'DIXIE'

RENO, Nev.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Martha Delaney Davis held a divorce today from J. Richard (Dixie) Davis, indicted "mouthpiece" of New York policy racketeers, who abandoned her for Hope Dare the Broadway show girl.

Board Opens Bids On First of Two New Junior Highs

The Mansfield board of education opened bids on construction of the proposed Johnny Appleseed Junior high school building shortly after noon today, but awarding of the contract was not expected until tonight.

Eight bids on the building construction and heating and electrical equipment had been submitted this morning to Dr. J. H. Bristor, clerk of the board, and more than twice that number were anticipated before the deadline.

Work on the junior high school which will be erected at Wood street and Cline avenue is scheduled to start Dec. 20, with Dec. 17, 1939, set as the completion date.

The building is one of two which will be erected as the major part of the city's $1,000,000 school building program, financed by a $550,000 bond issue and a $450,000 PWA allocation.

Contract for a new John Simpson Junior high school building will be let early in January, with work due to begin late in the month.

Tygers Face Tough Assignment In Cleveland Tonight

Engage Veteran Team at West

Little All-America Includes Toledoan

NEW YORK —(AP)— Fully as capable as their better known brethren, the big frogs in the little puddles of college football make their bows today with the 1938 "Little All-America" chosen by the Associated Press.

The south led all sectors on the team made up of stars from the nation's smaller colleges. It placed four men on the eleven which sports a backfield average 195 pounds and a line average 196. The far west, east and middle west placed two men each and the southwest one.

The "Little All-America:" — End, Thomas, San Jose State; Tackle, Somers, LaSalle; Guard, Sutton, Chattanooga, Horton, Morehead (Ky.); Guard, Burkovich, Toledo; Tackle, Claxton, Whittier; End, Moore, Roanoke; Back, Panish, Bradley Tech; Back, Tulley, East Texas Teachers; Back, Roeder, Franklin - Marshall; Back, Smith, Southwestern (Tenn.)

Mansfield Completes Week of Tough Drills for Game on Road.

COACH RUSS MURPHY'S Tygers turned toward Cleveland today in their bid for their second straight victory of the new basketball season.

The Mansfield high school basketball party left early this afternoon for Cleveland where the Tygers engage West of the Senate.

Tygers In Shape.

Mansfield whipped Shelby, 29 to 13, in their opener, and Murphy stated before departure that the club is in fine shape for tonight's encounter.

It was rushed through a series of heavy drills this week, and most of the faults which cropped out in the Shelby game were remedied, according to Murphy.

The Tygers are expected to face a tougher assignment in Cleveland than they did at Shelby. Tonight will mark West's first appearance, but, according to reports, it will be one of the stronger Senate teams.

Seven of the members of last season's team which finished high in the Senate race are back.

Murphy said today that he will again start the lineup that he used against Shelby. That means that Tommy Scott and Gene Rudolph will be at the forwards, Dave Shelley at center and Jack Lyons and Bill Herpich at the guards.

Jack Dugger is also expected to see considerable service tonight. Dugger who reported late because of football, should be of great help to the club this year because of his height.

Remain In Lineup.

Murphy said that Rudolph and Herpich, who made their debuts as starters in Shelby, will remain regulars until it is proven that they cannot hold up their end of the bargain.

If their performances at Shelby can be taken as a criterion, Rudolph and Herpich will be hard to dislodge.

Dick Olin Honored

Dick Olin, son of Mr. and Mrs E. M. Olin, was elected honorary captain of the Kenyon college football team at the annual banuet held at Gambier. A former Mansfield high star, Olin is a graduate of Mansfield high school, where he starred.

Choice Tilts On Rural Bill

Lexington, Ontario, Butler Play at Home Tonight.

There are no high school ball games scheduled in Mansfield tonight, but basketball fans will not have to go very far in search of court entertainment.

The Richland county league presents another array of games tonight which promises plenty of action.

Lucas and Butler clash in what looms as the headline game in Butler tonight, but the tilts which take Madison to Ontario and Union to Lexington should also be interesting.

Lucas, victorious over Ontario in its first start, plays again Saturday night at Bellville.

Shiloh is host to North Fairfield and Plymouth plays at Greenwich in Twin-Valley league tussles tonight.

Suffers First Court Defeat

Bushnell Bows to Bowman in Grade League.

Bushnell's cagers were handed their first defeat of the season in the Grade School league at Simpson school yesterday when they bowed to Bowman, 24 to 17 Morehead and Diehl led Bowman with 10 points apiece.

The victory enabled Bowman to retain a share of first place with Hedges, which won over Western 12 to 4.

Myers tallied 20 points as Woodland turned back Carpenter, 20 to 8, West Fifth whipped Newman, 14 to 3, and Prospect defeated Brinkerhoff, 16 to 6

Rattan Spills Gorilla Poggi

Wells, Rockwell Fight to Draw at Armory.

Headlining a combination boxing and wrestling program at the Armory last night, "Silent" Rattan, Toledo grappler, defeated "Gorilla" Poggi, South America.

Rattan won the first fall in 14 minutes with a full nelson, a slam and a body smother. Poggi, who tried to be the "bad man," won the second fall in 6 minutes with a toe hold. Rattan returned to polish off the Gorilla in less than 5 minutes with another nelson, slam and pin.

Bob Blake, Columbus, another grappler, took the measure of Ray Schwarz of New York in the semi-final. Blake won the first fall with a leg lock in 15 minutes. Schwarz turned tables and flattened Blake in 5 minutes of the second stanza with a slam and body smother. Blake took the deciding fall in 7 minutes, repeating with a leg lock.

Of the two scheduled boxing bouts, only one was presented. Due to the failure of one boxer to arrive in Mansfield. In this affair, Harry Wells, 132, of Cincinnati, and Paul Rockwell, 135, Mt. Vernon, battled 6 rounds to a draw, according to Referee Clarence Miller of Newark. The boys were willing to mix it freely and presented the most entertaining bout of the evening.

Inmates Wallop Crestline Quint

Held to a 10-10 tie in the first period, the inmates of the refromatory snapped into a hot scoring stride in the second frame as they rolled to a 54 to 25 victory over the Crestline Merchants at the institution yesterday.

The inmates limited the visitors to four points in the second frame and did not allow a point in the third quarter. The winners held a 23 to 14 lead at the half.

Calhoun and Lance, with 13 and 10 points, respectively, led the inmates. Gottfried was high for the Crestline team with 11

A FLOCK of 2800 totals were hung up in the Commercial B league at the Meder alleys last night, with the Office Cafe setting the pace with a 2876 total, climaxed with a 1015.

And the individual scoring honors were annexed by Tony Anthony of the Burghardt Cafes, who turned out a flashy 678 from games of 223, 216 and 239. Stauffer, a teammate, came through with a 640, as the Cafes shot a 2804 and a pair of wins over the Mansfield Rugs, who spilled 2759 pins.

Charley Gimbel with a 643, led Office Cafe to a clean sweep over the Yuncker Sports and a tie for first place with the Satterlee Restaurants.

The Satterlee team was second high with a 2840 count with it opened with a 1040, but won only two games from the Met's Auto Supplies. Harold Geiger led the Satterleemen with a 631.

The Ringside Cafe, led by Maier's 619, came through with a 2836, which was good for three wins over the Shelby Cycles. The string enabled Ringside to tie the Mansfiled Printers for the runner-up position. Jones rolled a 603 for the Printers.

The Kochheiser Sports won two games from Ohio Public Service with a 2704 count. Worman nad a 601 for the O. P. S. club.

Cueman, Sohioans Deadlocked In Friendly House League

Rex Cagers Defeat Miller Dairys, 28-22, While Blue Goose Trims Farmers, 31 to 25.

THE Rex Billiards and Blue Goose Sohioans shared first place in the Senior A league after the second week of play at the Friendly House.

The Cuemen, 1937-38 champions, won over Miller's Dairys, 28 to 22, and Blue Goose trimmed Raemelton Farm, 31 to 25, while Augustine's Oils took it on the chin from the Musille Cigars, 25 to 21, last night.

Cigars Rally, Win.

Led by Carbetta and Augustine, the Augustine quartet grabbed the lead after the first three minutes and held it virtually all the way until the final period. Then the Cigars put on a rally that the Canfields could not deny. The Augustine club held a two-point advantage going into the fourth frame.

Huffman tallied eight points in the nip-and-tuck victory over the Oils.

Led by Richards, who scored 10 points, the Billiards never trailed as they hung up their second victory. They led 6 to 4 at the end of the first period, increased it to 17 to 6 at the half and went into the fourth frame holding a 23 to 12 advantage.

The Dairys spurted in the fourth quarter to outscore the Cuemen, but they were unable to overcome the huge lead. Heiser tallied 10 points for the Dairys.

Holding Kenny Hardin, who scored 18 points, and his teammates scoreless in the fourth period, the Blue Goose entry won the hardest fought game on the program.

Gain 2-Point Lead.

The score was tied at the end of the opening period and at the intermission, but the Sohioans obtained a two-point lead in the third chapter.

The Lockhart brothers, Kenny and Willard, with 11 and nine points, respectively, led the Blue Goose quintet.

Shelby Plays At Bellevue

Faces Another Tough Test on Road Tonight.

Victory prospects do not appear any too encouraging for the Shelby Whippets tonight when they go to Bellevue for their second tilt of the season and first on the road.

In Bellevue the Whippets engage a team which has been beaten only twice in 25 games. Bellevue's last defeat was administered by Mansfield in the district tournament last spring.

Shelby has worked hard for this game after a 29 to 13 beating by Mansfield in the inaugural, and Coach Bill Query believes the Whippets will give their hosts a tough battle.

Shelby's starting lineup tonight will consist of Cline, Lehman, Miller, Fireoved and Benham.

All of the other N. C. C. conference clubs will also be in action tonight except Marion. Ashland is host to Norwalk, Bucyrus takes on a strong foe on its home court in Crestline, Galion entertains Willard and Mt. Vernon invades Columbus North.

Galion will also be in action Saturday night when it goes to Mt. Gilead.

Winners Meet Monday Night

One of the two undefeated quintets in the City Class A basketball league race will fall by the wayside when the circuit stages its second session of the year at Mansfield high Monday night.

The feature attraction sends the touted Yuncker Sports against the Elks Lodge club in the opening game at 7:30 o'clock. The winner of the contest will be assured of a share of the first round championship.

In the other melee, Earl Herrick's Hi-Speeds tangle with the Westinghouse Electrics.

Minors Make It Possible for Majors Again to Go Out and Sign Own Prospects.

NEW ORLEANS—(U.P.)—Baseball will never have another "Feller incident." In the records of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues today was a constitutional amendment permitting major league clubs to hire directly all the sandlot and semi-professional players their budgets will permit.

Minor league executives, in annual meeting here, believed the amendment would eradicate the "subterfuge" in the so-called "Baltimore agreement" between major and minor leagues adopted in Montreal two years ago. The action still must be approved by the major leagues at their annual meetings in New York next week.

Changes Agreement.

Under the old system, as provided in the "Baltimore agreement," major league clubs could recommend players to minor league clubs with the understanding that when the sandlotter signed a contract with the minor club, he would work for the major league outfit that spotted him. The most noted case of this type was the signing of Pitcher Bob Feller by New Orleans while he still was a student at Van Meter, Ia., high school. He was "recommended" to New Orleans by the Cleveland Indians and reported directly to the Indians.

Frankie Frisch, former St. Louis Cardinal manager, continued to hold out for a big league job.

"I think I'm going to get a big league job," Frisch said. He has also talked with Manager Bill McKechnie of the Cincinnati Reds, Pie Traynor of the Pittsburgh Pirates and President Bob Quinn of the Boston Bees.

One major league deal sent Outfielder Allen (Dusty) Cooke and some cash from Cincinnati to the St. Louis Cardinals for Outfielder Stanley (Frenchy) Bordagaray.

The Boston Red Sox traded Pitcher Dick Midkiff to the Syracuse Chiefs in the International league. The Chicago Cubs bought Pitcher Ray Harrell from the St. Louis Cardinals.

Take Over Franchise.

The New York Giants took over the franchise of the Salisbury club in the North Carolina State league. Chattanooga of the Southern association bought First Baseman Alex Hooks and Pitcher Harry Smythe from Montreal and sold Outfielder Johnny Gill to Nashville and Pitcher Pat Malone to Oakland, Cal.; Brooklyn gave Willie Duke, outfielder, to New Orleans in part payment for Catcher "Greek" George, and Portsmouth, Va., sold Infielder Edward Stankey to Syracuse.

WILLARD TEAM MISSES 3,000 TOTAL BY ONE PIN

WILLARD—Goebel's Beers of Willard missed the coveted 3000 mark by just one pin in taking three games from the Durkee Foods of Sandusky in a Traveling league match this week. The Beers put together games of 1074, 974 and 978, with Jacobs setting the pace with 256-215-213-684. Sandusky upset 2779 pins.

RAILS FAVORED IN MARKET HIT BY TAX SELLING

Italo-French Flare-up Over Colonies Also Confuses Speculative Forces.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Rails edged forward in today's stock market while many industrial leaders failed to develop a definite trend.

Favored were Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Southern Railway, Great Northern, U. S. Steel, Chrysler, American Telephone and Sears Roebuck.

Tax selling continued as a market brake, brokers said, but most seemed impressed by dwindling activity in declining periods. Although business news was hopeful, the Italo-French flare-up over colonies was confusing to speculative forces.

Bonds and commodities were irregular. European securities markets were spotty.

Boardrooms noted week-end trade reviews which reported retail spending, stimulated by Christmas shopping, stepped up during the week to the highest aggregate of the year.

At the same time, Dun & Bradstreet estimated public buying was 2 to 8 per cent under a year ago while wholesale distribution lagged behind the 1937 period by 2 to 12 per cent.

Sales comparisons were less favorable, it was added, "as shoppers preference for less expensive merchandise and the lower level of prices tended to reduce dollar volume as compared with last year."

HELPING CUPID

Judge Orders 'Divorce Moratorium During Christmas Season.

INDEPENDENCE, Kas.—(AP)—Couples who want divorces as Christmas presents or as an occasion on which to shout "Happy New Year" can pass up Judge J. W. Holdren.

He has announced a "moratorium" on divorce cases between Dec. 19 and Jan. 3.

"I've found that couples contemplating divorces find it easier to kiss and make up during this sacred period," explained the judge.

'LOAFERS' ANGRY

Discharged WPA Workers Picket Jackson County Jobs.

JACKSON, O.—(U.P.)—Shutdown of all WPA projects in Jackson county was threatened today when more than 100 WPA workers began picketing jobs from which they had been dismissed for alleged loafing.

Appearing at the court house here yesterday a large group demanded that county commissioners find a way to reinstate them. The spokesman for the workers said that unless something is done they will attempt to picket and close down every project in the county.

COLUMBUS PRODUCE

Florida strawberries and California rhubarb made their first seasonal appearance yesterday. Strawberries sold at 50c per pint and rhubarb around $2.50-2.75 per box of approximately 40 pounds. Louisiana shallots sold lower. Barrell lots of 20 dozens each went at $7.50-8.00 each and dozen lots at 40-45c each. Cuban pineapples sold approximately $1.00 per crate under previous quotations, 24 sizes going at $4.50. Leaf lettuce sales ranged mostly from 45-50c each for 10-pound baskets with some few sales reported as high as 55c. Hothouse tomato prices continued over a wide range at 90c-$1.10 for most sales. Some few U. S. No. 1 mediums were reported as selling under those prices.

Truck lot receipts at the farmers' market were rather light again and prices continued practically unchanged. No changes were reported in the prices of butter, eggs, dressed and live poultry.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—They're Off. By Harold Gray

HA! WE HAVE THE DOGS TRAINED TO TRACK, BUT THE SCENT! THEY MUST HAVE FIRST THE SCENT-
WHILE THE STUPID POLICE TALKED, I PICKED UP THIS OLD SHOE IN HER ROOM-
AXEL- HE IS IN TRUTH THE MASTER MIND-
HE THINKS OF EVERYTHING-
HERE--- AH! YOU HAVE IT NOW. MY FINE ONES- GO! GO! GO AND FIND HER-
BUT WAIT- THEY WILL OUTDISTANCE US, AXEL-
WE SHOULD HOLD THEM ON LEASH-
SAH! AND DRAW SUSPICION? HUSH!
HEY, YOU! WHAT'S THE IDEA? ARE THOSE YOUR DOGS?
AH, IT IS SO- MY PETS- EVERYWHERE THEY GO WITH ME- THEY HAVE BEEN PAR- I MERELY LET THEM OUT TO STRETCH THEIR LEGS-
WELL, WHY DIDN'T YOU HANG ONTO THEM? THEY MIGHT HURT SOME ONE-
HAROLD GRAY

THE NEBBS—Wo? By Sol Hess

YOU OLD FAITHFUL FOX - I WOULDN'T KNOW WHAT TO DO WITHOUT YOU
OH, I DON'T KNOW. YOU'D BE MORE CAREFUL IF YOU DIDN'T HAVE SOMEONE TO DEPEND UPON
DO YOU KNOW CONVERSER DID THE ACTUAL STEALING WHILE HIS WIFE KEPT YOU AT THE AWCOMON INN DANCING, AND THIS BELLBOY, MATS, WAS HIS CONFEDERATE
SO T'IS GUY, MAT, I WAS IN WITH THEM?
YES, IT WAS MATS WHOM THEY PASSED THE DIAMOND TO...HE HID IT IN THEIR CAR AND THOSE TWO CROOKS WHO LEFT WITHOUT PAYING THEIR HOTEL BILL STOLE THE GLASS DIAMOND OUT OF THE CAR
AS A MATTER OF FACT, WE HAD CROOKS TO THE RIGHT OF US, AND TO THE LEFT OF US—WELL, WE FOOLED 'EM, KARI, AND WE'LL ALWAYS FOOL 'EM!

PAM—Any Way! By A. W. Brewerton

PAM HAS A SURPRISE FOR PAUL!
HOW DO YOU LIKE IT, PAUL?
WHY—WHY---
12-9
--WAIT—DON'T TELL ME!—LET ME GUESS—I KNOW—YOU'RE MY "DINNER DATE" FOR TONIGHT!
AREN'T YOU FUNNY!—BUT, SERIOUSLY, HOW DO YOU LIKE MY HAIR THIS WAY?
WELL—YOU REALLY WANT MY--
--HONEST TO GOODNESS OPINION—WANT ME TO BE PERFECTLY FRANK WITH YOU?
WELL, HERE GOES—YOU ASKED FOR IT!—I'M CRAZY ABOUT YOU, PAM, ANY WAY YOU FIX YOUR HAIR—UP, DOWN, OR--- YES, PAUL—JUST THAT!
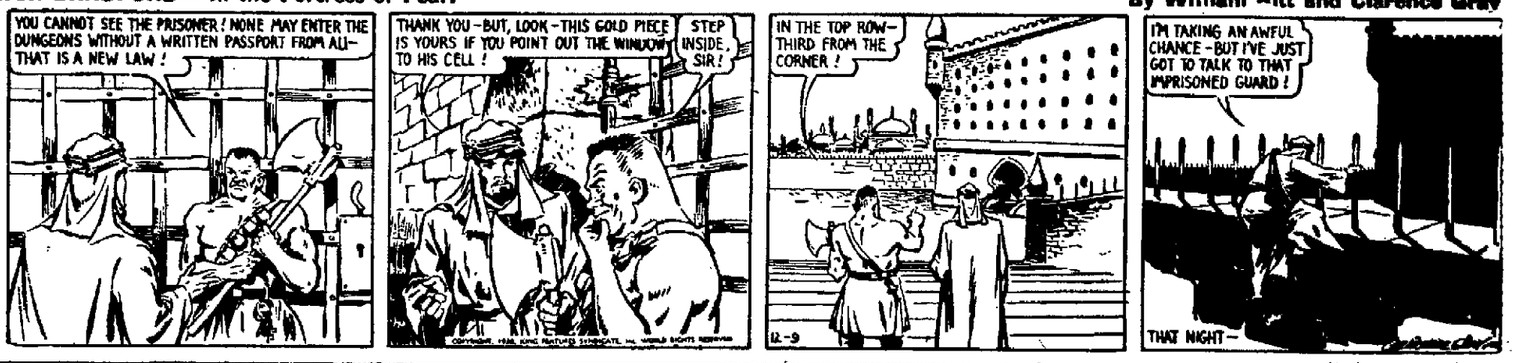
--I'D BE CRAZY ABOUT YOU EVEN IF—IF YOU HAD T'WEAR A WIG!
PAUL!! LOTS OF HELP YOU ARE! I REALLY WANTED YOUR OPINION!
REALLY, PAM, I'D HAVE KNOWN YOU—ANY-WHERE!
YOU GOT IT!

BRICK BRADFORD—In the Fortress of Fear. By William Ritt and Clarence Gray



YOU CANNOT SEE THE PRISONER! NONE MAY ENTER THE DUNGEONS WITHOUT A WRITTEN PASSPORT FROM AU—THAT IS A NEW LAW!
THANK YOU—BUT, LOOK—THIS GOLD PIECE IS YOURS IF YOU POINT OUT THE WINDOW TO HIS CELL!
STEP INSIDE, SIR!
IN THE TOP ROW—THIRD FROM THE CORNER!
12-9
I'M TAKING AN AWFUL CHANCE—BUT I'VE JUST GOT TO TALK TO THAT IMPRISONED GUARD!
THAT NIGHT—

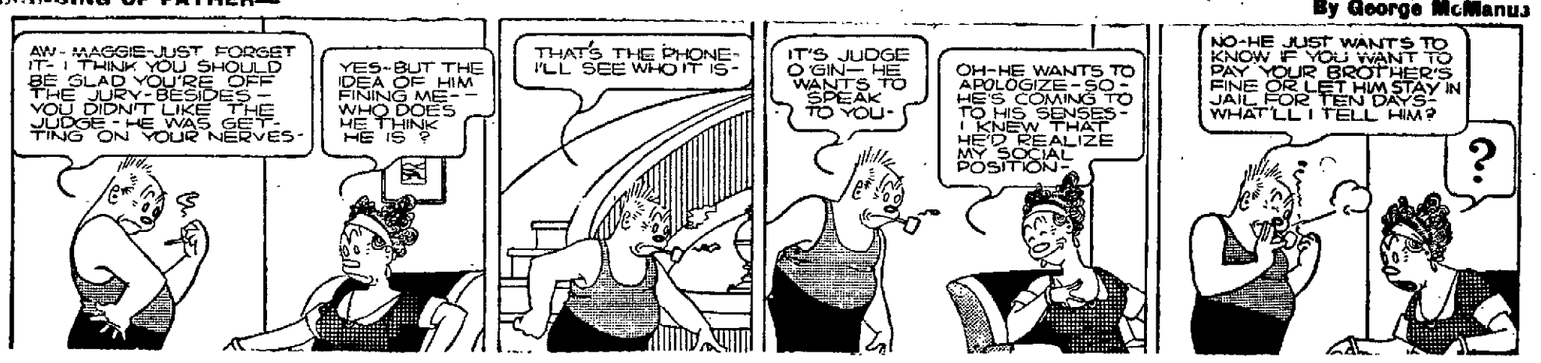
MICKEY MOUSE—A Remark From the Gallery. By Walt Disney

THE ECCENTRIC PRISONERS ARE ALL PEPPED UP OVER THE IDEA OF FORMING A DRAMATIC CLUB IN THE PENITENTIARY!
WE'LL GIVE THEM THE OLD CLASSICS!
"THE BELLS!"
"EAST LYNNE!"
ALL RIGHT, BOYS—BREAK IT UP! AS FAR AS THE POLICE ARE CONCERNED, THIS CASE IS CLOSED!
OUR PLAYS WILL MAKE A NAME FOR THE PENITENTIARY!
WELL, ONE THING SURE—YOUR AUDIENCE CAN'T WALK OUT ON YOU!
SIR?

SKY SKIPPER—Now What? By Hal Forrest

HANK, RADIO TO MIAMI, THAT WERE ATTACKED BY THAT PIRATE!
CAN'T! ONE OF HIS SHOTS CRIPPLED THE RADIO SET!
I'M GOING TO TRY AND BRING HIM ON YOUR SIDE! GET READY TO BLAST HIM WHEN HE PASSES, SKEETS!
HOLY HAT!!

BRINGING UP FATHER— By George McManus



AW-MAGGIE-JUST FORGET IT-I THINK YOU SHOULD BE GLAD YOU'RE OFF THE JURY-BESIDES—YOU DIDN'T LIKE THE JUDGE-HE WAS GET-TING ON YOUR NERVES-
YES-BUT THE IDEA OF HIM FINING ME--WHO DOES HE THINK HE IS?
THAT'S THE PHONE-I'LL SEE WHO IT IS-
IT'S JUDGE O'GIN—HE WANTS TO SPEAK TO YOU-
OH-HE WANTS TO APOLOGIZE-SO-HE'S COMING TO TO HIS SENSES-I KNEW THAT HE'D REALIZE MY SOCIAL POSITION-
NO-HE JUST WANTS TO KNOW IF YOU WANT TO PAY YOUR BROTHER'S FINE OR LET HIM STAY IN JAIL FOR TEN DAYS-WHAT'LL I TELL HIM?

EXPLAINS WAGE AND HOUR LAW

Ohio C. of C. Official Will Conduct Clinic for County Employers Dec. 16.

A general invitation today had been extended by the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce to employers in Richland county to attend a wages and hour clinic to be conducted here Dec. 16 by Frank P. Ward, director of the industrial relations department of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce.

Ward

Paul W. Williams, secretary-manager of the Mansfield chamber, said the new law has caused considerable confusion among employers and that interpretations from the bureau in Washington had been meager.

"For that reason Ward has been asked to clarify certain regulations as they apply to the employer," he said.

Ward is a former member of the staff of the Brookings Institute of New York, a statistical firm, and a nationally recognized authority on industrial statistics.

Following his discussion of the new law, a question and answer period would be conducted.

The meeting will be held in the C. of C. assembly rooms on the fifth floor of the Farmers Bank building.

SPECIAL SERVICE

Ashland Pastor to Speak to Young People Here Tonight.

A special service for young people will be held tonight at the Church of the Nazarene, Reba avenue.

Rev. C. E. Ryder, pastor of the Church of Nazarene, Ashland, will be guest speaker for the service. His subject will be "The Glory of the Menial Task."

Music will be furnished by a group of young people from the South Zanesville Nazarene church. Rev. George McElvain, formerly of Mansfield, and pastor of the Zanesville church, will also attend the service.

Books For Children

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

Among the books appropriate for Christmas giving are some of the picture story books for the younger child's book shelf. "Mei Li," a story of the Chinese New Year fair, by Thomas Handforth and "The Three Policemen" by William Pene du Bois are among the suggestions made by the public library this week.

Other books are the animal fables entitled "The Cautious Carp" by Nicholas Radlov; "The 500 Hats of Bartholomew Cubbins" by Dr. Seuss; "And and the Lion" by James Daugherty.

"Buttons" by Tom Robinson is the story of an alley cat who became a gentleman. Wanda Gag, famous lithograph artist, has just produced "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

A Scotch boy must decide whether to become a highlander or a lowlander in the story of "Wee Gillis" by Munro Leaf. Brunhild Schlotter has illustrated "The Sleeping Beauty," "The Frog Pringe," and "Mother Hulda" in "Three Tales from Grimm." "Barkis" is the story of a cocker spaniel puppy written by Clare Turlay Newberry.

NEW SOIL PLAN TRIMS COUNTY'S '39 WHEAT CROP

Cuts Next Year's Total 3,100 Acres but Encourages Small Farm Owner.

Richland county farmers who participate in the federal soils conservation program next year will be permitted to raise eight acres of wheat or corn without restrictions, but they must cut their total wheat crop by 3,100 acres, G. L. Taylor, chairman of the county committee, announced today.

The eight-acre limit is expected to benefit the small farm owner and increase the popularity of the federal program, Taylor said.

The county's wheat allotment, just released by the state conservation office, permits farmers to plant 25,166 acres of wheat in 1939 as compared with 28,445 this year. The corn allotment, which is expected to show little change, probably will be received within a week.

Expect 2,600 to Participate.

"A number of farmers stayed out of the program this year because they were restricted regardless of the wheat and corn acreage they planted," Taylor said. "Now the small farmer will be encouraged to participate in the program."

He predicted that more than 2,000 county farmers would participate next year as against approximately 1,600 this year.

A series of educational meetings to acquaint farmers with the federal program will be held in the county this winter, with the first scheduled for late in December at the courthouse.

The federal crop program provides for cash benefits to farmers who reduce their acreage of soil-depleting crops such as wheat, corn, and potatoes and use lime and fertilizer to build up their land.

First payments for county farmers who complied with requirements of the program this year will arrive before the end of the month and checks will be received at intervals throughout the winter, Taylor said.

CHECK VISAS

NEW YORK—(INS)—Foreign visitors to the New York World's fair 1939 must obtain a non-immigration visa, good for six months. This period can be extended upon official approval. Federal authorities and immigration officials will make a close check-up to be sure all the 500,000 foreign visitors expected at the fair return to their native lands at expiration of their visas.

Mansfield Man Found Vendol Just the Thing He Needed

Young local painter fell from scaffold year ago, breaking his back. Inactivity brought on constipation which resulted in stomach distress, poor sleep, and other troubles.

MR. LESTER H. BAKER

"I am a painter by trade, but about a year ago I fell from a scaffold and broke my back, and have been unable to work ever since," said Mr. Lester H. Baker, well known young man of 612 Bowman St., Mansfield, to the Vendol Man in Central Drug Store.

"I had always enjoyed good health until that time, but naturally have been forced to remain quiet and inactive, and this inactivity brought on constipation. This constipated condition caused frequent bilious spells, made me very dizzy, and I suffered with terrible headaches

"After almost every meal I would bloat up with so much gas that it made me have a full, heavy feeling in my stomach. I became very nervous, couldn't sleep, and my skin was pale and sallow in appearance.

"A friend of mine recommended Vendol and the little Vendol laxative tablets, so I decided to try this treatment, and although I have only taken two bottles I am now able to be up and about again Constipation has been relieved and now I can enjoy my meals without the gas and bloating. I have no more bilious attacks, and those terrible headaches are gone. My nerves are calm, I sleep well every night, and feel better in every way, thanks to this splendid medicine."

Give this wonderful medicine made from Nature's Roots, Herbs and mild Alkalines, a chance to help you, too. The Vendol Man at Central Drug Store, Cor. Main & Fourth Sts., invites everyone to call and learn all about it. There is no charge, so see him today.

ITALIAN FLIERS TOTAL VICTORY SCORE IN SPAIN

Loyalist Planes Downed In Year Officially Set at 286, Italians Say.

(By United Press)

ROME—Italian pilots flying Italian planes for the rebel forces of Generalissimo Francisco Franco have shot down 286 loyalist planes during one year of activity in Spain, it is contended here.

According to official statistics issued by the air ministry, the so-called Legionnaire air squadrons, formed by regular Italian pilots, have carried out 46,880 flights comprising a total of 79,970 flying hours.

During these flights heavy Savoia-Marchetti tri-motored bombers have dumped more than 17,000,000 pounds of high explosives and bombs on loyalist ammunition depots, trenches and ports. Cities are not mentioned in the list of objectives.

During the past year official statistics state that Italian aviators captured 28 world records, the most important of which was the world's altitude record established by Commander Mario Pezzi who, flying a specially built Caproni plane, reached an altitude of 56,002 feet.

The air ministry also has issued an exhaustive survey of the work accomplished in East Africa in the field of aviation. Three thousand workers have built 162 aviation fields which are scattered over the empire. Eight hundred mechanics and motor specialists keep airplanes in tip-top condition in Africa. The number of planes in Ethiopia now is not revealed.

During the past year Premier Benito Mussolini, who is also air minister, set an example for civil pilots by making 29 flights totaling 41 flying hours. The longest of these was on Aug. 18 when Il Duce flew his three-engined S. 81 to the fortified Island of Pantelleria, half way between Sicily and Africa, where he inspected the naval base, the airfield and the heavy fortifications of the strategic island. This flight took 4 hours 45 minutes.

The premier's shortest flight during the past year was on June 9 when he took a 20 minute training hop from Forli to Ravenna.

40-Piece Accordion Band Headlines Show

A feature of the second annual Community Sing and amateur show to be staged by the Junior Association of Commerce, Dec. 15 in the Senior high school auditorium, will be a concert by Smart's 40-piece accordion band, shown above. Several special arrangements have been written for this concert. Featured in the band are two organ tone accordions that can produce the tones of various other instruments. The band appears each summer in weekly concerts at North Lake park, and is under the direction of Eugene Smart.

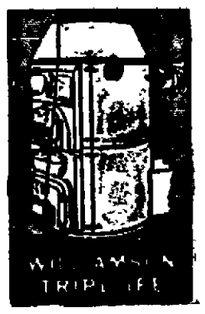
$2 A WEEK Will Buy A Williamson Tripl-life



"The Williamson Heater Company:
Last September we had a Williamson Tripl-life Furnace installed in our home. We enjoyed it this past winter. It is a pleasure to fire such a good looking plant which has not taken so much fuel and does not have to be fired so often. We have had no trouble in controlling the heat and the upstairs rooms are as warm as the downstairs. We are all very much enthused with our new furnace and would recommend it to anyone."
Signed—Mrs. A. L. Bennett, West Jefferson, Ohio

FREE: Furnace Inspection. Did you burn too much coal, did you have too much illness—were your coal bills too high this past winter? We make free inspection, locate troubles, do repair work. Modest prices.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

The Mansfield News Founded by W. S. Cappeller, March 7, 1885.
Published Daily Except Sunday by Mansfield Journal Co.
Office: Fourth and Walnut, Mansfield, Ohio. Phone Canal 4251.

Entered at Postoffice at Mansfield, Ohio, as second-class mail matter.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES—By Mail: Richland and adjoining counties per year, $4.00; 6 months, $2.25; 3 months, $1.25, (in advance), elsewhere in Ohio per year, $6.00; in U. S. outside of Ohio, per year, $7.00. By Carrier, per week, 18c.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1938.

The old-time bartender knew in just what part of town his women customers belonged.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" has been barred from Germany—possibly because ot the brutality of Simon Legree.

It may be a good idea, at that, for a youth of Jimmy Roosevelt's age to jump from one lucrative job to another, just for the experience.

Bad Condition of West Fourth Street.

MAYOR HUNTER is justified in the determined effort he is making to have West Fourth street included in the 1939 highway improvement program.

This street, which is U. S. route 30-North, is not only a main artery of local traffic but is also a much used east-west highway for transient motorists.

It is therefore entirely reasonable to ask that state and federal highway funds be allocated to meet a fair share of the costs of improvement, as the present condition ot the street (with street car tracks still in the middle) is dangerous.

Considering the amount of money that Mansfield motorists pay in gasoline tax, and other taxes presumed to be for highway improvement and maintenance, it appears that a fair share has not been coming to this city in return.

Whatever can be done to expedite the re-improvement of West Fourth street and removal of street car tracks should be persistently stressed until this project is carried through.

Messengers of Cheer and Hope.

WHEN you buy Christmas Seals you have done only part of the job. Remember to use them during the holiday season on all letters, cards and packages that you send out.

The Christmas Seal in itself is a means of education. In the minds of millions of people it has come to be identified with the fight against tuberculosis. Therefore the wider the use of these seals the more effectively will the campaign attain its purpose of eventually wiping out tuberculosis.

This year, especially, the design of the Christmas Seal is unusually attractive. The mother and her two children in the charming costumes of the Victorian age, the candle-lighting ceremony and the double-barred cross of the tuberculosis movement combine admirably to make a charming bit of decoration for any card or package. And, certainly, they carry to humanity Christmas greetings of the highest possible significance.

The dramatic accomplishments in the fight against this disease are largely due to the fact that the Christmas Seal focuses at least for several weeks out of the year the attention of all citizens on tuberculosis. Today, every child has five times as good a chance of escaping the dread disease as he had thirty years ago. Only by continued and persistent efforts can the ground gained be maintained and further advances made. The Christmas Seal helps to make this possible.

It is a simple act to stick a Christmas Seal on the back of a letter or on a package. But, this act repeated by millions of people, young and old, in large cities and in country villages means that the campaign to protect all homes from tuberculosis is going forward. Do your part!

A Boy Who Became a Bandit.

THE inclination of some parents to assume that their own children are always "right" in differences that may arise in their association with other children or with teachers, at least occasionally has tragic consequences later in life.

There is, for instance, the case of Benny Dickson, a youthful bandit now infesting the midwest.

It is disclosed by J. Edgar Hoover, head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, that Dickson came from a middle class family, that he attended a university and that his father was a high school teacher.

Says Mr. Hoover: "Dickson had a persecution complex because of his father. When he violated ordinances in his home town his father condemned the officers for enforcing them. He told his son he was being persecuted. As a youth, therefore, Dickson had a contempt for the law. He graduated from petty violations to robbery and then to kidnaping."

Dickson's parole record, during this period, indicates the same sort of parental intervention, as well as mistaken leniency by parole authorities. Sentenced to a total of 31 years, young Dickson spent less than five years in corrective institutions.

Everyone knows that parents suffer acutely as a result of misconduct of their children, and will go to great lengths in efforts to minimize punishment for wrongdoing, but this is a part of life that apparently cannot be avoided.

There is an old saying, however, that still holds good: "As the twig is bent, so is the tree inclined."

Checking Up on Hobbies.

A GROUP of sixty engineers, answering a questionnaire about hobbies, revealed a great variety of such pursuits. They ranged from contract bridge to dynamite blasting. The dynamiter, it should be explained, doesn't go around exploding dynamite indiscriminately. He clears big tree stumps and boulders from ski trails as an avocation.

There were, of course, golfers and stamp collectors, skiers and skaters, and followers of various indoor sports. Many named photography as their hobby, including the developing and printing. More than half said they had home workshops in their basements. One had obtained twelve United States and five foreign patents for inventions perfected in leisure time.

The engineers averaged twelve hours a week with their hobbies. All had at least one hobby, while they averaged four and a half per man. One spent $600 a year on his. The average expenditure was $130. Fifteen said their hobbies were financially profitable.

Dancing, writing, painting and raising tropical fish were listed. Cooking was not mentioned, in spite of the fact that many men these days are winning renown for their salad dressings, cakes, steaks and other culinary triumphs.

It would probably bring the French people to their senses if Hitler started to annex France. And he may try that very thing, if strikes and political confusion continue much longer.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—Freshly called home from Germany, Ambassador Hugh Wilson at once put his finger on a choice little piece of international sleight-of-hand by which Germany is wiping out much of her foreign debt—at the expense of Yankee investors.

German financiers have invented more new financial tricks than the world ever has known in order to put herself in fighting trim, but her methods of ducking international debts are not new in any sense. From time to time such tactics have been tried by private American concerns, bringing on no end of public condemnation.

Germany began failing in her bond payments back in the twenties and this government sent Charles Dawes, Owen D. Young and other financial wizards over there to help pull the country out of the hole. Each time new foreign money, including some from America, was lent to Germany in an effort to revive the country. By 1930 the American loans to Germany had reached a peak of $1,200,000,000. Then the present series of defaults began.

In that year $100 bonds slipped to a low of $76, and by 1931 ranged from a top of $97 to a low of $27. Present values on various issues range from $20 to $30 Then began the German maneuvers which financial men have called names ranging all the way from plain chiseling to rank international dishonesty.

* * *

Bonds Drop—Germans Buy.

SHREWD German investors started buying up the German $100 bonds in this country at $20 to $30. They were able to get them at these low prices only because Germany had jolted down the value by failing to pay interest or principal on them.

Of the original top value of $1,200,000,000 of German bonds sold in this country, it is estimated in reliable quarters here that $500,000,000 have been bought back by German investors at a total cost to them of perhaps $100,000,000. That means that American investors have taken a loss of $400,000,000 on the operation.

Of the German bonds sold in this country $725,000,000 still are outstanding, and of these it is estimated that fully half have been bought by Germans at 20 cents on the dollar.

Financiers explain that, technically speaking, sharp German speculators might be blamed for the business instead of the German government, except for one thing. That is, that in recent years no German investor could buy these bonds on the American market except with permission of the government. Before he could use American dollar exchange to buy the bonds, he had to get official permission.

* * *

U. S. Again the Goat.

BESIDES calling attention to such maneuvers, Ambassador Wilson also protested in a series of notes against the German practice of assuming responsibility for Austria's debts to other nations but refusing to accept responsibility for Austria's debts to the United States.

The German answer was that she had a balance of trade with other nations which left her with spare exchange to pay on bonds. With the U. S., however, the balance of trade is the other way, so there are no spare dollars to pay off German dollar bonds. Ambassador Wilson didn't think that sounded so good, not while Germany was able to get money to buy bonds at cut rates but could not find money to pay for them at an honest dollar for dollar.

Incidentally, a couple of South American countries have played the same trick in the United States. Chile is going about it systematically, with a regular government fund. Certain Brazilian states did it also, buying up bonds which had slumped when interest payments stopped. Lately, Brazil has backed away from it.

THE DOCTOR'S ANNUAL VISIT

Neutrality Law Has Weak Spots

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, D. C.—When Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota evolved our present neutrality law his intention was to give the President no discretion in the matter of keeping the United States out of foreign conflicts.

Two or more overseas nations having gone to war, the White House tenant is supposed to embargo American shipments of military supplies to both or all of the belligerents. The act hasn't proved a bit effective. Everyone knows that Italy waged war against Abyssinia, that war is raging in Spain and that Japan and China are at war bloodthirstily. But none of these wars was formally declared. Theoretically they were not and are not wars.

President Roosevelt could have declared them wars, in fact, and slapped embargoes on, but he hasn't seen fit to do so. Technically perhaps he's been right about it. The Nye law doesn't exactly apply to the Spanish muss, either. Even it it's a war, it doesn't class as international; it's a civil struggle nominally.

The truth is that Italy and Germany have a hand in it; Russia, to a certain extent also. To a degree, France and Britain doubtless are participants. Indeed, the number of Americans in the fighting lines ran into the thousands. But it's a civil affair, according to diplomatic interpretation. The Nye law doesn't require the President to neutralize Uncle Sam in such cases.

What About China?

As for the Jap-Chinese war, it's a war all right. However, American public opinion is altogether on China's side. We wouldn't like to see the Chinese embargoed. If the Chinese can get our military supplies, to fight the Japanese with, we want to see the Chinese get 'em. They probably don't get many; Japan has them bottled up too tightly. Nevertheless, it wouldn't be popular for the White House to shut them off altogether. And the President hasn't any choice. If he recognizes a war and embargoes Japan, he must embargo China likewise.

The Congressional folks who propose amendment of the Nye law urge that the White House be empowered to make a selection between belligerents—to say that one side's right and that the other side is wrong—to remain neutral but to embargo the supposedly wrong side, while continuing the flow of American supplies to the supposedly right side.

Now, thts might be neutrality from the Yankee standpoint, but is it likely that the side which the President decided against would think so? Echo answers skeptically.

Opponents of the amendment program maintain that the scheme would give the President entirely too much authority, anyway. He can't declare war today. Congress has to do it if it's done at all. To be sure, he can maneuver the country so closely up to a war that Congress hardly will be able to get out of declaring it. Still, this thing is a step farther.

Proponents of amendment suggest a few changes in the law that aren't so essential.

Question of Terms.

For example, the present law calls for an embargo on "ammunition." Ammunition is concrete stuff—explosives. The would-be modifiers of the law would substitute the much broader term, "munitions," meaning all kinds of junk that perhaps could be used for lethal purposes.

I think maybe the modifiers will succeed in substituting the term "munitions" for "ammunition."

I don't believe the President will be authorized to choose between belligerents. The latter would give him, in effect, the right to pick between warring powers.

Then we'd be yanked into their rumpuses.

They're hard enough to keep out of anyhow.

Timely Editorial

Professional Paupers.

Is the public relief system that is taking shape in this country creating a professional pauper class? Speeches at the conference of the National Municipal League indicated serious apprehension on the part of those studying social problems.

The common opinion of a few years ago that the huge relief set-up was but a temporary measure during the depression, is being abandoned. One of the leading speakers declared: "The national conception of public welfare which has begun to take form within the last few years, is here to stay."

Such a condition evidences a serious deterioration of public morale. Should anyone be surprised if, because of it, we should develop a professional pauper class?

While there yet may be time, most urgent efforts should be put forth to break down these evil tendencies and to insure that relief shall be paid only to those who can't earn their own living.—Detroit News.

The Mystery of Pain.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

IF YOU lay your hand on some kind of an object, you can report that it is hard, sharp and hot. All these sensations are the result of nerve endings in the skin which carry impulses to the sensory area of the brain. They all seem to be mixed up together—that is, you feel hardness, sharpness and heat all at the same time, but they can be dissociated because heat and cold spots are entirely separate from plain feeling.

These heat and cold spots can be mapped out. On the back of the hand, for instance, a fine not needle point may not be felt at all on one area of the skin, but within a very short distance will be felt distinctly.

Physician's Case.

A physician in one of our prominent medical schools has described his own case. He has a cervical rib, an extra rib in the neck, which presses on the plexus of nerves which are distributed through his arms. As a result of this, there is a region in the arm lacking in the pressure and temperature senses pertaining to a sense of pain. Other cases have been described in which the pressure alone remains, dissociating the pain and temperature senses.

There is another difference between the ordinary nerves of sensation, which is that there is superficial and deep sensibility. In other words, if all the nerves to a given area of skin are cut, the individuals will still be able to feel pressure and movements due to nerves that are deeper than those in the skin.

Tongue Sensitive.

So far as superficial sensation is concerned, the most sensitive part of the body is the tip of the tongue. This, of course, accounts for the feelings that occur when one has a sharp tooth or a grain of raspberry seed inside the mouth. They feel out of all proportion to their size, sharpness or hardness. Next comes the tip of the forefinger, then the palm, then the bottom of the feet. Least sensitive is the skin along the spine and in the middle of the neck or back.

The pain sense is the most mysterious of all. One of the most astonishing things is that physicians constantly are dealing with pain and yet haven't the slightest idea as to exactly what it is. They know a good deal but they don't know its nature. For instance, pain in the intestines is a daily experience in every doctor's life. Yet, it is possible for a surgeon to handle and cut the intestines of a patient who is not anaesthetized without causing any pain whatever. The theory is that intestinal pain is due to cramps or peristaltic movements which are excessive, but that still remains purely theory.

A Farmer's Diary

Work of Art.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I WAS visiting a friend among the hills, when a stranger came walking up the narrow rutty lane. He carried a grip with three light metal strips strapped along the side. He was about middle age, with dark eyes and hair and a hungry melancholy look that neither my friend nor I could soon forget.

"Will you let me paint that picture yonder — that pasture scene?" An expressive smile of anticipation played across his face. "I mean the three-cornered field by the woods, where that mule is grazing."

My friend consented, and the artist unpacked his tools, set up his easel, and went to work. When he had roughly sketched the scene before him, the slanting rays of sunset began to illumine the valley. I saw the artist growing more and more absorbed, and as I walked nearer, he put up a hand for silence, and turned even more intently toward the picture before him.

I stood and watched the scene from my own viewpoint, until the last lingering rays of animating sunlight had faded. Then the stranger turned to me, with an apologetic smile.

"The light changes so fast," he said. "It is different every second. If I can get some of that fleeting glory into the background, it will make the mule more interesting."

"I guess," said I, "that if a man could paint a scene like this in all its detail, it would always live."

"No, no," he exclaimed, earnestly. "A camera might do that! But if I could paint a sunset or a pastoral and put my own deep self into it, so that each time I look upon it my heart will ache again, because I loved that sunset, or that rustic setting—that is the ideal of every artist, and makes his struggle worth the candle. For if I could do that, you see,—then you would look at my canvas and feel it, too."

His dark face beamed as he said goodby, and I thanked him for that fine bit of enlightenment.

"Kindred Spirits."

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

SHE wishes I'd write something about Kindred Spirits. They are what she needs most. In fact, her life's practically a wreck for lack of 'em.

Of course she knows plenty of people—dozens 'n' dozens of people. But that's all they are—Just People. Nice enough, kind enough, and she "wouldn't hurt their feelings frenithingintheworld." But, as companions they aren't a mite o' use to her. Why, they might as well be living in another world, for they can't possibly understand A Person like Her.

So there she is, eating her heart out for a Kindred Spirit—someone who'll feel the way she does about The Real Things of Life. Surely, being a writer, I must have felt that way and be able to sympathize—?

Yes, lady, I've felt that way. In fact, I devoted quite a number of years to feeling that way, I too, considered myself an Outlaw Soul, doomed by cruel Fate to spend my days apart, with different thoughts and feelings than the Common Herd.

Just how was I different? Well, I could hardly explain. I just knew I was—that was all. And, lacking other evidences, wasn't I going to be An Author? And weren't Authors different from anyone else? So there!

Which, of course, was a Perfectly Ducky notion to have, and I got a huge kick out of it. This, however, I would have indignantly denied. For I not only believed myself to be utterly unique but I was also sure that I was suffering agonies because of that fact.

No one, I was convinced, had ever endured such torture of loneliness and misunderstanding, such spiritual bruising through contact with Coarser Humans. If only there were someone — someone who could Speak My Language. Someone, in short, who was worthy to associate with my rare nature. But, of course, there wasn't. God just hadn't made 'em. And so I just had to go on sufferin' and sufferin'.

Looks kinda silly set down in cold print, doesn't it? And it was silly! Nothing could have been more asinine than my conceited notion that I was different. All that I felt all other humans felt, each according to his or her capacity. I had no secret hunger or fears, dreams or rebellions which they did not share.

Kindred Spirits! I was completely surrounded by thousands of them! And as for understanding me? They understood me all too well! Only it flattered my vanity to think they didn't. But any ditch-digger or hash-slinger could have diagnosed me in two seconds as a stuck-up young smarty, badly in need of a well-placed kick in the shin.

Did I get it eventually? Yes, dearie, I did! From Experience, Inc. And a swell job it was! So in case you're willing to admit what ails you, Imogene (though it's dollars to doughnuts you aren't) here's a tip from a friend—

IF YOU REALLY WANT A KINDRED SPIRIT YOU NEED NOT LOOK BEYOND YOUR NOSE. THEY'RE PASSING YOU HOURLY BY THE SCORE. Life isn't a prize package reserved for the de luxe few. Life is common bread, shared by all . . . and the Other Fellow knows its taste just as well as you.

Open your heart to him and he'll open his to you. Give—and you'll get.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

Why Is It Called a "Daisy?"

It is a pity that the high-brows and the low-brows did not let this pretty little field flower alone and not go, the one to lengthening by Latinizing, and the other to shortening by corrupting, its original name.

In the matter of apportioning blame, however, let our censure fall lightly; the end result is euphonious, and everybody seems to be satisfied.

The botanists christened the lovely plant bellis perennis, high Latin for the low herb that lasts the whole year through—a scholarly effort, duly appreciated, and which graces many a bookshelf.

The corruptions took the Old English name for it, Days' Eye, bestowed upon the bloom because it partially closes at night, and abbreviated it to "daisy."

It might have been worse.

NEW YORK—Al Jolson, plodding through the snow of an early December morning, bumped into Billy House, the over-sized comedian whose poundage hovers around the 300 mark.

"My, but you're putting on weight," greeted Jolson. "Doesn't it bother you?"

"In a way," admitted House, "but then it gives me an advantage over you thin fellows. I always know exactly where my cigar ashes are going to fall."

THE manager of an uptown real estate firm hit on a new plan to boost his property sales and everything was going nicely until he met up with one of those small lads of the Tom Sawyer variety.

As I got the story, the manager and a prospective buyer were strolling through a new residential section, looking at the lots, when the customer let out an ejaculation and picked something off the ground.

"Look," he cried, "a rabbit's foot!"

"That's wonderful," exclaimed the real estate salesmen. "That's a good omen. Maybe it means that if you buy one of our lots you'll be in luck."

"Maybe you're right," agreed the buyer, fondling the token.

But just then a small boy of ten or thereabouts sauntered into view. He appeared to be looking for something.

"Lost anything, son?" the real estate man inquired.

"Nope, ain't lost a thing. Just looking for rabbit's feet. Already found four. A man scatters them over this place every week. Says it's a swell come-on for suckers."

IT WAS the party of the third part that interested Adele Ronson, the actress.

Having been offered a part in a new play, she readily accepted and then broached the subject of a contract.

"Well," said the producer, "I do not believe in contracts. My word is my bond. Your word is good with me. Doesn't that make everything okay?"

"Oh, sure," replied Adele, "it's sufficient as far as you're concerned and I'm concerned—but what'll we have to show the judge!"

The best show in town is one that goes on all the time—and it doesn't cost a cent. It's the skating pond in Rockefeller Center. Morning, afternoon and evening you may see expert skaters, some of them little short of sensational, putting on exhibitions that would credit any of the high-priced ice carnivals.

If you wish to skate yourself you must pay a modest fee, but it costs nothing to watch. Hundreds are jammed around the pond daily. The pond itself, artificially frozen, is 50 by 100 feet, yet more than three miles of pipe conveying a brine solution is interlaced beneath the pond's surface. The evening skating is from 8:30 until 11.

SEEKS MILITARY, CULTURAL TIES TO CHECK NAZIS

U. S. Counts on Conference at Lima to Help Develop Its Plans for Americas.

(AP Feature Service Writer)

WASHINGTON—A Pan-American axis of commerce and culture is in the making.

Delegates from 21 nations, representing more than a quarter of a billion people, are forging the framework at the Pan American conference opening at Lima, Peru, today. How strong the framework will be remains to be seen But aside from promoting the Pan American highway and providing for exchanges of professors and students, delegates hope to promote the general understanding of the masses on the sister continents.

Speaking generally (because there have been warning that Argentina for one will burn no European bridges) their aim is American solidarity. Their work is a part of America's answer to the infiltration of totalitarian commerce and propaganda in the last few years

Last in a Series of Three Articles

The rest of the answer is the exchange of military and naval missions among the powers of the two continents, and Uncle Sam's most ambitious peace-time military and naval program.

After the old world's Munich conference remade the map of Europe, President Roosevelt voiced hope for military strength to make Uncle Sam the actual as well as theoretical guardian of the new world. Previously, he had assured Canada that the United States would not stand idly by if Canada should be attacked

This program and these sentiments, it should be noted have not won universal approval In the United States certain peace advocates and others have denounced them as excuses for building up armaments beyond reason In South America warnings still are printed against the designs of the Yankees.

Commissions At Work.

But American naval and military men are talking about a Pan American front against Nazi and Fascist activities in South America. The United States is about to send a naval and military mission to Colombia, whose boundaries are close to our vital Panama Canal.

Already we have a naval mission of eight officers and a military mission of four in Brazil; four naval advisers and eight army men in Argentina, four naval experts in Peru; two army men in Haiti, and one in Guatemala.

And Assistant Secretary of State Sumner Welles has just hinted we may expand such groups in South America He didn't say what these missions would do, but generally it is assumed they would try to 'integrate the military defense systems of various South American nations so as to make them complementary to our own in the event of a common war.

In addition, the United States-owned Pan American and Grace passenger and mail air lines girdle the whole South American continent—nearly 22,000 miles of well equipped airways that could be transformed into a continental defense system.

Powerful Naval Strength.

Most important, a total of more than a million and a half tons of naval armaments—the combined fleets of the United States and her southern neighbors—is available for common continental defense. That's more tonnage than England boasts, and 1,000,000 tons of it is Uncle Sam's own.

Also, under a program recommended to President Roosevelt, the United States would spend close to $1,000,000 next year on 74 projects to tie the Americas closer together Educational, scientific and road building work would be included.

Why all this activity?

There all indications that Italy, Japan, and especially Germany are making or trying to make inroads in Latin America. That, to the "America for Americans" advocates, seems like excuse enough.

Germany operates nearly 4,000 miles of commercial airlines among Latin American capitals, and runs regular airmail service between Europe and South America. Those air lines could be converted to military use in time of need. Aside from the United States, France, with about 3,000 miles of air lines, is the only other air power on the scene in Latin America.

Active Nazi Work Reported.

Some writers insist that the Nazis are financing "shirt" societies all over both continents, and, with the Japanese, buying vital oil at bargain prices from Mexico.

"In Essen, Germany," says Dr. David Efron, a New York college professor from Argentina, "there exists a special Nazi organization devoted to clandestine traffic in armaments in Latin America . . . There is an Italian Fascist-controlled factory of Caproni airplanes in the vicinity of Lima, Peru . . .

"Officers of the Italian Ovra (Italian secret police) are instructing Peruvian police forces. . . . There are Nazi maps of 'antartic Germany' including parts of Argentina, Brazil and Uraguay . . .

"Nazi Germany is giving away hundreds of radio sets in Latin America which can receive only news from Germany . . ."

Whether or not this information is accurate much of it must have reached Uncle Sam's political and military leaders, for they are boosting estimates of our required regular army strength from 160,000 to 400,000 men.

Need Panama Defense.

Secretary of War Harry Woodring has just reported in effect that the Panama Canal defenses are vulnerable, especially from the air, and must be made impregnable.

Such sign posts mean the struggle for influence in South America is on.

That struggle involves a great continent and 130,000,000 people.

South American resources rank below only those of the United States, Russia, and possibly China

But Latin America is potentially rich. The world gets most of its coffe from Brazil and Colombia, most of its sugar from Cuba. Argentina is the No. 1 exporter of corn and meat. Mexico is tops in silver production, and Chile ranks second only to the United States in copper output.

Much In Common.

Latin American nations have much in common with Uncle Sam. Many of them honor our system of democracy, even though they don't always practice it. Our universities attract their industrially-conscious citizens.

In addition to our more than a half-billion-dollar yearly trade stake in Latin America, we also have close to $5,000,000,000 invested there directly and through bond holdings—greater than our investments elsewhere on the globe. Uncle Sam's eyes are truly turned toward the south. And it's in the south, at Lima, Peru, that the Pan American conference opens today.

Chart shows that any job of defending western hemisphere would fall largely upon United States. ABC countries are South America's strongest.

HUGHES PRAISES

Lauds Red Cross, Showing Gain of 170,000 Members.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Chief Justice Hughes acclaimed the Red Cross as a unifying influence among the American people upon its report of a successful roll call and another peak membership.

Presiding as vice-president at the annual meeting of the Red Cross board of incorporators, Hughes also praised Norman Davis, national chairman, whose re-appointment by President Roosevelt for another one-year term was announced.

Davis estimated that the Red Cross roll call just completed would show a membership of 5,701,500, or 170,000 more than last year and 2,000,000 more than six years ago.

"The Red Cross, more than any other organization, and particularly more than any institution of the government," Hughes said, "expresses the real spirit of the American people and their generosity and their humanitarian desires."

GEAR DESIGNED TO HUNT GOLD ON OCEAN BED

Engineer Declares Dredges Will Be Powered by Sea Current in Alaska.

(By United Press)

OAKLAND, Cal.—With gold deposits known to exist under the sea in Stevens' Passage, 18 miles from Juneau, Alaska, John C. Williams, engineer of this city, is completing an undersea dredge that will make exploitation of undersea gold ore possible.

The existence of the Stevens' Passage gold deposit has been known and charted by the U. S. Geodetic Survey for years, but Williams is confident that still other similar deposits can be found in Alaskan waters and elsewhere.

As a consequence, he predicts that the next big gold rush will be for undersea gold, and he expects to be a pioneer in such prospecting.

10-Ton Dredge.

Williams' invention for undersea gold mining consists of a 10-ton steel dredge with two buckets and an attachment that converts the ocean currents into power. He says that at 1,000 feet the ocean can provide 350 horsepower.

The dredge now being built can operate at a depth of 3,000 feet, although the depth at which the gold deposits of Stevens' Passage lie is only 1,600 feet. He is building, however, on a scale large enough for him to work in other waters where gold deposits may lie.

The only outside power necessary for the dredge, according to Williams, is merely the electric winch which lowers it into the water and hauls it to the surface again. He estimates the dredge can make nine hauls an hour.

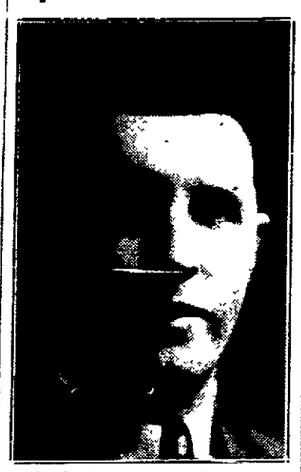
As soon as an adequate number of the dredges are completed, Williams plans a mining expedition to Alaskan waters. He will take a 9,000-ton freighter carrying 10 of the dredges.

The electric lowering devices will be controlled by a master clock, which in turn will be governed by the tide. The only assistants he will need in his venture will be the crew of men and mechanics necessary to keep the machines in condition.

He estimates he will be able to bring up 10,000 cubic yards of rich ore daily.

In addition to the present series of dredges under construction for deep-sea gold mining, Williams is building an even larger one for the Scripps Institute of Oceanography at La Jolla.

Opens New Market



Clyde Estes, general manager of the Estes Coal and Ice company, and operator of the Estes Big Tent market, today announced the opening of a new "super market" at Fifth street and Mulberry. Unlike most super markets, the new Estes establishment will not be a self serve store. The market has been enlarged and redecorated and will carry full lines of groceries, vegetables and meats. It will be open seven days a week and evenings, Estes said.

HEADS CHURCH

Georgopoulos New President of Greek Congregation.

James Georgopoulos, past president of the local Order of Ahepa, Greek-American lodge, has been elected president of the Greek Hellenic church, Saint Constantine and Helen. He succeeds George Schamos as president. Rev. James Gougoutas is pastor of the church.

The Greek community, and the Greek school children will present a play "The Greeks of Salaminas," Dec. 26 at Moose hall, North Walnut street. Members of the cast are Steve Karanavos, George Kitrenos, Nick Mavromatis, Jerome Kaler, Katherine Mavromatis and Fern Sarafis.

Children of the congregation will sing Christmas carols at the homes of church members during the holiday season.

YULE PROGRAM SET FOR DEC. 21

Union High Students to Present Vocal, Instrumental Numbers.

The music department of Union high school, Weller township, will present a Christmas program Wednesday evening, Dec. 21, in the school auditorium.

A feature of the program will be playing and singing of Christmas carols by the school orchestra, and a selected chorus directed by O. H. Meckley, musical supervisor. Vocal and instrumental solos by various students also will be presented

The school will hold its annual Christmas assembly Friday, Dec. 23, J. E. McCullough, principal, announced. Exchanging of gifts will mark the program which is being sponsored by the sophomore class.

TEACH HUBBIES HOW TO COOK

Women of New York Town To Give Cooking Lessons.

EARLTON, N. Y.—(INS)—So that the husbands may be able to cook the meals when their wives are away the Earlton Neighborhood Civic association has decided to give cooking lessons to its male members.

Beginning next month the men will make coffee at every regular meeting and serve refreshments of their own cooking to the women members.

When asked if he were not afraid of an epidemic of indigestion President Victor L. Rowbottom said that the men would cook bicarbonate of soda right in the food.

GOES ON BLOCK

177 Acres of Farmland to Be Sold by Sheriff Saturday.

Ordered sold on a $4,856 foreclosure judgment awarded the Federal Farm Mortgage corporation, three tracts of land totaling 177 acres in Perry and Jefferson townships will go on the auction block at sheriff's sale at 10 a. m. Saturday at the courthouse.

The land, appraised at $4,235, will be sold as on tract, Deputy Sheriff Frank E. Robinson said. The properties must sell for at least $2,824, two-thirds of the appraisement.

The farms, owned by Harry D. McCoy and others, include 137 acres in Perry township and 40 acres in Jefferson township.

CURES TURKEYS

Researchers Find Means of Fighting 'Swell Head' Disease.

SACRAMENTO, Cal.— (INS) — Infectious sinusitis of turkeys, a disease commonly referred to as "swell head," can not be controlled with 80 to 90 per cent effectiveness. This malady, which causes severe losses to turkey stock during the late summer and fall months, it was found, at the University of California college of agriculture, can best be combatted with a solution of 15 per cent argyrol or a 4 per cent silver nitrate solution injected into the sinuses.

Master Plumbers Elect 1939 Officers at Meeting.

The Mansfield Master Plumbers association today had elected Frank Frietchen, 202 South Diamond street, as president of the organization for 1939.

Frietchen will succeed Herman Hoffman who has held the post for the past year. Other officers named were O. P. Wervey, vice president, and Henry Denig, secretary-treasury. Denig succeeds the late C. E. Millington who died several months ago.

Delegates to the annual state convention to be held at Canton in February will be named at the next meeting of the organization Jan. 20.

Hoffman presided at the annual meeting of the group which was held at the Frietchen and Denig shop.

PLYMOUTH INFANT DIES

PLYMOUTH—Sandra Sue, six and a half month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin E. Pump, jr., died at the family home Wednesday afternoon following an illness of two months. Funeral services will be held at 1 p. m. Friday at the home of the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Pump, sr., with Rev. Richard C. Wolf, pastor of the Lutheran church, officiating. Burial will be in Fremont.

BRITAIN PERFECTING PLAN TO RATION FOODS IN TIME OF WAR

LONDON — Britain's national food rationing plan was today ready for automatic operation in the event of a state of emergency being declared.

During the recent European crisis, the long delayed plans for the rationing of the country's food supplies were rushed to completion.

The controlling bodies behind the scheme are:

The Food Defense Plans Department of the Board of Trade, responsible for the control and distribution of all food supplies and the Food Production Department of the Ministry of Agriculture, formed for the purpose of increasing home-grown food in an emergency.

During the crisis, the staffs employed by the Food Defense department were increased to such an extent that they were compelled to take over many additional offices. It is understood that this staff will remain intact to assure absolute preparedness in the event of another emergency.

Ration cards have been printed and are ready for immediate distribution. Fifteen hundred food officers have been appointed to supervise the distribution of all foodstuffs throughout the country.

Each officer will be given charge of a district, where he will form a committee which will be responsible for the registration of all local food retailers and their stocks.

The declaration of a state of emergency entitles these committees to take over all local food supplies. They will be entrusted with the distribution of rations and the ordering of fresh supplies.

Since mid-summer plans for the enormous expansion of Britain's new canning industry have been ready, so that all surplus vegetables and fruit accumulated under the Home Growing scheme can be preserved as an emergency ration.

HOLIDAY SEASON BRINGS SLUMP IN NEW BOOKS

'The Fathers,' Story of Old Virginia in 50's, Among Library Additions.

Even authors must knock off work about Christmas time and turn to playing Santa rather than pounding their typewriters if the early December book selection is much of an indication. The list just added by the Mansfield Public library includes "The Fathers," a novel by Allen Tate which pictures Fairfax County, Virginia during the 1850's ending shortly after the beginning of the Civil war. The period portrayed is one of swiftly changing standards and intense emotional strain.

"To The Market Place" by Berry Fleming is a novel which is being talked about in literary circles. It tells the story of a number of young, modern, intelligent people who come to New York City, either permanently or temoprarily, to make their living

Cicily Lancaster, a modern, straight-thinking wife, learns that her husband is true to her only in spirit in "Wisdom's Gate" written by Margaret Ayer Barnes. The novel, which appeared in a national women's magazine under the title "Modern Instance," carries the characters in "Years of Grace" into another generation

Other fiction includes "Renown" by Hough; "Concord in Jeopardy" by Leslie, "We in Captivity," Pawle, "Florian Slapper," Cohen; "Four of Hearts," Queen, "Big Firm," Williams-Ellis, "No More, No Less," Henry, "Brighton Rock," Greene, "Pity the Tyrant," Storm; "Brother Flo," Shuster.

Writes of Coolidge.

"A Puritan in Babylon" by William Allen White was intended as a biography of Calvin Coolidge, but it grew into the story of an era in American economic life. The author's hypothesis is that Coolidge was a perfect throwback to more primitive days, while living in georgous and sophisticated times.

"Sean O'Faolain has written in "King of the Beggars" the life of Daniel O'Connell, the Irish liberator.

With the opening of the Metropolitan season, some of the opera books added will be interesting New ones are "Home Book of the Opera" by Charles Annesley; "Story of Musical Instruments" by Harry Wayne Schwartz· "Life of Richard Wagner," volume two. by Ernest Newman "Beethoven by Robert Haven Schauffler and "London Music in 1888-1889 As Heard by Corno di Bassetto.' by Bernard Shaw.

Three new travel books about the Caribbean and its environs include "Sky Roaming Above Two Continents" by Harry A. Franck, "Lets Go to the West Indies" by George W. Seaton, and "Circling the Caribbean" by Tom Marvel.

Other non-fiction includes "Life Story of the Fish," by Curtis, "Claude Bernard, Physiologist," Olmstead, "Secret of Sinusitis and Headaches," Bush, "Chinese People," Danton; "Deep Sea Divers," Zolotovsky, "Home Grown," Lutes; "Challenge of Housing," Post; "Postscript to Adventure," Connor; "Speaker and Recitations for All Occasions," Burt.

LAFF-A-DAY

JOKE BACK-FIRES

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (INS) — Changing the license number on a traffic tag placed on his car and pinning it on a clergyman's automobile was a joke to George B Maier, until the prank back-fired, then it was "Sl, please," with the police judge speaking. The joke had ended when the pastor, confident he hadn't violated any law, took the ticket to headquarters, where it was traced to Maier.

Musical Closes Saturday.

The love of "Schani," Johann Strauss, played by Fernand Gravet for Carla, an opera singer portrayed by Miliza Korjus, gives a romantic plot to "The Great Waltz" The movie, which has its final showing tomorrow night at the Ohio theater is filled with Strauss melodies sung by the principals and a large chorus of voices Luise Rainer has the other feminine lead "The Cowboy and The Lady" opens at the Saturday midnight show.

* * *

Boisterous Brown.

Joe E. Brown, the mouthy comic, is starred in the current attraction showing at the Madison. Many of the funny moments of this hilarious comedy set in South America are in the sequence between Brown and Leo Carrillo "Flirting With Fate" is the story of a vaudeville troupe stranded without funds.

* * *

Hard Riding.

Bob Baker and Marjorie Reynolds have the romantic leads in "Black Bandit" showing currently at the New Ritz with "Battle of Broadway" starring Louise Hovick, Victor McLaglen, and Brian Donlevy. The tale is one of twin brothers and twin horses on the western planes. Bob, as the law-abiding, respected leader of his community is forced to capture his brother Don who is a desperado.

Celebrities Star.

Celebrities of both screen and radio are in the cast of "Manhattan Merry-Go-Round" which is now showing at the Park theater. Excitement against the background of Broadway and the theatrical world are offered in this movie which stars Phil Regan, Ann Dvorak, Tamara Geva, Henry Armetta and Leo Carrillo. The second feature is "Fury and the Woman" with William Gargan and Molly Lamont.

* * *

"Mysterious Rider."

A thriller of the old western type is "Mysterious Rider," based on the Zane Grey novel, now showing at the Majestic. The story is that of a returned ranch owner who finds his home and his daughter firmly under the thumb of a cattle rustler. "The Last Express" which stars Kent Taylor and Dorothea Kent is the second feature.

Pupils Win Radio 'Spot' By Station Executive's Visit

An opportunity to broadcast over a Cleveland radio station was given two sophomore students at Senior high school following a visit yesterday at the school by a Cleveland radio executive.

The students are Robert Early, baritone, and Richard Sparks, pianist. They were heard by Larry Roller, radio educational director of stations WHK and WCLE, who was at the school inspecting the school's public address system. Principal Jesse Beer said.

Roller came to Mansfield to inspect the public address system, as the result of a questionnaire on broadcasting improvements sent out to various stations in Ohio by A. L. Derr, director of vocal music at the school. The two students were heard along with others of the public speaking and music departments in trial broadcasts over the system. They will broadcast over the Cleveland station some time in April.

FARM BUREAU HOLDS SESSION

Members of the Weller township farm bureau voted to continue discussion sessions at meetings when they met Wednesday night in the Union rural school building.

Thomas P. Crabbe, president, appointed committees to arrange the next meeting, Wednesday, Jan. 4. Dean Tolles of the county co-operative association spoke.

Music was provided by the Union high school orchestra and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ackerman. The recreation period was in charge of Miss Helen Tolles and Gene Clingan. Refreshments were served.

CAUSES STIR AT GALION HEARING

Employes' Petition Rejecting Union Affiliation Filed in NLRB Case.

GALION—A petition presented at what seemed to be the close of the NLRB hearing here, Thursday, at the public library, in a case to determine if the International Association of Machinists, affiliated with the AFL, is the rightful representative in matters of collective bargaining for 132 employes of the Central Ohio Steel Products company, carried the hearing over today

Trial examiner Earl S. Bellman of the National Labor Relations board presided for the hearing which opened Thursday morning. It was expected that the hearing would be short, until the petition was presented by W. H. Eichler, an employe at the plant. Eichler said that only Wednesday morning of this week, he and Richard Kesselring left their work and went to the home of the plant president, G. L. Stiefel, to ask if they should circulate a petition which stated that the signers did not want to be represented by any union. Eichler said that Stiefel told them he could not tell them what to do about such a petition. Eichler further stated that he and Kesselring went back to the plant and secured the names of 44 men, 14 of which had signed authorization cards to the union

A. G. Skundor, grand lodge representative of the I. A. M. who filed with the labor board for a hearing, objected to the presentation of Eichelr's petition in the case. Examiner Bellman admitted the petition on grounds that all of the 14 persons who had signed it and also union authorization cards would be called to the stand today.

Skundor was on the stand Thursday morning and told of his conference with company officials when Stiefel demanded more proof that the union had a majority in the plant, and that Stiefel agreed to Skundor's suggestion that the labor board be asked to certify the union membership. Union authorization cards signed by 78 employes were introduced as evidence during the morning session.

Max. W. Johnstone is attorney for the Labor board, while C. H. Henkel of Mansfield is counsel for the company

ASHLAND READY FOR NEW SEWER PROJECT BIDS

Council Approves Plans for Seven Miles of Lines as Public Works Job.

ASHLAND—Plans for installation of approximately seven miles of sewers were approved at a special session of city council.

Council authorized Mayor W. Art Mason to take bids and let a contract for the installation, the contract to be part of the city's PWA sewerage and sewage disposal plant project.

Cost of this section of the project is estimated at $93,000. This is the second of two sewer line contracts. A contract for main trunk sewers was previously let for approximately $25,000. Bids are expected to be accepted on Dec. 30 with work to start soon after that time.

Submission of the plans and specifications to the state department of health for approval was provided for by the ordinance. This is expected to be a formality as the entire plan has been accepted by the department.

ASHLAND — Try-outs for the Ashland college junior class play, "George and Margaret," are being held this week, under the direction of Miss Thelma Slack, head of the college expression department.

The play is to be presented Jan. 16. Results of the try-outs will be announced early next week, according to Miss Slack.

ARREST LEADS TO SECOND ONE

Woman Accused After Man Is Picked Up for Shoplifting.

The arrest of a shoplifter in a downtown store led to a second arrest today—that of a 41-year-old woman against whom Patrolman C. W. Kyler preferred charges of adultery.

The woman is Mrs. Louise Heck of 111½ North Main street. She is to be arraigned before Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch in municipal court tomorrow.

Kyler said he filed the charge after a search of the accused man's room revealed that the woman, whom the officer said was the wife of a man held in a federal prison, had been living with him.

The man Harry Becker, charged with petit larceny today was fined $10 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail. He pleaded guilty. The affidavit was signed by J. H. Blahnik, manager of the Montgomery Ward and company store who said Becker took 11 pairs of ladies hose from the store yesterday.

PRESENTS PLAY

Galion Luther League Gives 'The Light Eternal.'

GALION — Another successful dramatic presentation was given Thursday night by the Luther league at the Peace Lutheran parish house when the league presented the three-act comedy-drama, "The Light Eternal." The play will be repeated tonight.

Piano music between acts was furnished by June Thayer and Leila Wittibschlager, soloists.

Lighting and sound effects which were in charge of Lloyd Rehl, were impressive, especially the sounds used for a storm in the play.

Those taking part in the production are: Grant Ulmer, Juanita Plack, Mary Inez Britton, Walter Stentz, Maylilly Musselman, Howard Thayer, Robert Tracht, Ellenora Redmon Yochem and Rev. P. E. Auer.

TOWN PROTESTS

URBANA, O.—(AP)—Safety Director M. B. Wetzel said Urbana would hold a stop watch on Pennsylvania railroad trains and arrest the crews for speeding if any train exceeds 25 miles an hour within the city limits. He said the move was being made in an effort to force restoration of two watchmen at a grade crossing.

U. S. COMBINES ALL FORCES TO COMBAT SPIES

Roosevelt Reveals Broader Anti-Espionage Campaign, Request for Funds.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Co-ordination of all agencies of the federal government to check on the activities of the secret police of other nations in the United States, was revealed today by President Roosevelt.

In announcing the resignation of Lamar Hardy, United States attorney in New York who successfully prosecuted three Nazi Germany spies, the president said a plan of co-operation among U. S. investigators had been making excellent progress in meeting the spy situation.

The chief executive admitted that this situation was one in which the roots go pretty deep.

He then announced that additional funds will be asked for the anti-espionage campaign. The money will be distributed among the various agencies which are concentrating on ferreting out actual spies as well as international tipsters.

Defense Program Huge.

Added significance was given to the president's discussion of foreign activities at his press conference today by the imminence of his recommendations to congress for a huge new national defense program.

The executive was wary in replying to a series of questions regarding the exact set-up of the drive against spies. He pointed out that any disclosure of the anti-spy machinery would injure its effectiveness.

Mr. Roosevelt emphasized that there is no need for an OGPU (Soviet secret police) or a Gestapo (Nazi secret police) in this country but that an adequate and competent organization to check on the activities of other nations' agents is necessary.

Although the president declined to name the agencies for which additional funds will be asked, probably in the regular budgets to be presented to congress in January, it is probable that these U. S. police are participating:

The G-men of the department of justice; customs and revenue agents of the treasury department, and the secret service.

Mr. Roosevelt described the success of Hardy's office in New York on obtaining the spy convictions as perfectly amazing. He said that he and the retiring U. S. attorney had canvassed the entire spy problem at a White House conference yesterday.

Although Hardy's resignation was received with regret, the president added, the New Yorker had said that he was determined to resign to re-enter the private practice of law.

OHIO WILL PAY

Pen Inmates, Falsely Imprisoned, To Get $4,400.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — The state board of control today recommended that sums of $2,400 and $2,000 be paid Roy Donley and Melvin Trompe, both of Defiance, because of their false incarceration in Ohio penitentiary.

The men were convicted of robbing a grocery store at Archbald, O., on June 15, 1933, and pardoned by Gov. Davey on Nov. 28, 1935, after two men, who later were convicted of other crimes, confessed the holdup.

cident. Finding two men and two women standing by a ditched car, he hailed a passing car driven by Joe Shelby of Greenville for help.

As he helped transfer luggage from the wrecked car, he saw a sub-machine gun on the seat. He said the men, who had been watching him closely, immediately drew guns, ordered him into his own car, and drove off with both his and Sheldon's, leaving Sheldon in the road.

Motorist Sounds Alarm.

Another motorist saw them drive off and called the Lebanon telephone exchange. An operator immediately called the Wilmington patrol station and asked for all available patrolmen.

Powell telephoned an hour later from a farmhouse ten miles away that he had been handcuffed and tossed bodily into a field. He warned that the quartet was carrying, in addition to the machine gun, an automatic rifle and a pistol.

Then his car was found abandoned, the motor still running, a mile from the field on a country road.

The trail turned to South Lebanon when Sheldon's car was found there wrecked. The four apparently split up, the men stealing a coupe to continue their flight.

Two men in a coupe attempted to take an automobile from Louis Luedeke, 65, of Hopkinsville, but he threw away the key. They slugged him and drove on in the coupe. They then tried unsuccessfully to take a South Lebanon school teacher's car.

Discovery of the coupe and a sawed-off shotgun abandoned near the village sent the hunters into the Little Miami river bottoms there. A freight train was stopped and searched.

Then two Middletown policemen, Harvey Kurth and Paul Clark, arrested two women in Kings Mill and shortly after midnight the Washington Court House arrest was made by Patrolmen Vadin Lang and Jeff Ellis.

Time to Retire--- And How!

A sudden burst of flame and smoke, shooting through roof of this building in Brooklyn, N. Y., sent this fireman racing for ladder and safety, and gave the camerman opportunity to snap this dramatic action photo.

AT 'TOP' NOW

Head of Manufacturers Was Once an Office Boy.

NEW YORK—(AP)—A New York manufacturer who got his start as an office boy was named today as president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

He is Howard Coonley, 62, board chairman of the Walworth company, a valve-manufacturing concern with plants at Boston, East St. Louis, Ill., Attalla, Ala., Greensburg, Pa., and Kewanee, Ill.

A native of Chicago, his office boy's job was with a chocolate company there.

In 1902, Coonley had started his own business—a factory for the manufacture of enamel cooking utensils. He joined the Walworth company in 1913 as its president and aided its growth from one plant to the present five. During the World war he was vice president of the U. S. Shipping Board's emergency fleet corporation.

SWING 'EM HIGH

Canadian Town Orders Tail Lights For Night Wandering Cows.

WALLACEBURG, Ont.—(INS)—The 1939 model Wallaceburg cow will come equipped with a red tail light—or else.

Town council last night passed a by-law requiring cow owners to put tail lights on "the left rear" of their cows if the cows are to be driven or permitted to wander thrown the town streets between sunset and sunrise.

Delicacies From South, West Top Week-End Markets

From sunny California to Michigan and from Idaho to Texas come delicacies to satisfy the desires of the week-end shoppers.

In addition to kumquats avocados and persimmons there are three varieties of grapes, pineapples, tangerines, apples, California pears white and Texas pink grapefruit, bananas, raisins, figs, dates and all types of nuts.

The red sweet potato or yam is more plentiful now for the housewife who likes ham and candied sweets for Sunday dinner. There are also Georgia sweets, and Idaho bakers.

In the fresh, green and leafy class, markets will offer lettuce cabbage, water cress, celery, spinach, endive, ascarole, cucumbers, celery cabbage, and green onions. There are all kinds of root vegetables including rutabega, turnips and beets. Radishes, broccoli, mushrooms, ainse, hot peppers, eggplant, cauliflower, brussel sprouts, artichokes, oyster plant, tomatoes, peas and varieties of beans will be available for the week-end buyers.

6 DIE IN CHAIR

GIRL INDICTED IN FRAUD CASE

Former Secretary of Norwalk Auto Dealer Among 12 Cited by County Grand Jury.

Mansfield finance agency on a false mortgage and note for an automobile.

Since she is already under indictment on similar charges in Huron county, Prosecutor G. W. Marriott said it was uncertain whether she would be returned here for arraignment on the indictment.

She was released by the court here several weeks ago after providing $3,000 in cash and property bonds. Her former employer is held under $86,000 bond in Huron county where he is accused of defrauding the Crawford Finance company and other agencies of several thousand dollars.

Other indictments returned by the jury are against the following persons:

Miss Dora Fryson, colored, accused of cutting with intent to wound; Rex Harmon, John Williams and Torrence Freeman, burglary; Theodore Cook and James O'Neal, carrying concealed weapons; and Charles Wareham, non-support.

Harmon and Williams were accused of stealing 11 chickens at the Martin Hummell home on the Ashland road. Miss Fryson allegedly slashed Betty Wise, also colored, with a knife.

Five of the defendants who are in the county jail were to be arraigned before Judge C. H. Huston at 2 p. m. today. They are Cook, Harmon, Wareham, Williams, and Miss Fryson.

The jury refused to indict Ike Harris, accused of cutting with intent to wound. The secret indictments were understood to involve non-support charges.

PICK JURY FOR TRIAL OF 'GIMP'

Attorneys Select Tentative Panel to Try Ex-Husband of Ruth Etting.

(By International News Service)

LOS ANGELES—With a tentative jury of six men and six women selected, testimony was expected to begin today in the trial of Martin (Colonel Gimp) Snyder, former husband of Ruth Etting, accused of attempting to murder Myrl S. Alderman during a row in Miss Etting's home last October.

Snyder also faces charges of kidnaping and violation of the state's deadly weapon act.

Myrl Alderman, 30-year-old piano player, believed by Snyder to have supplanted him in Miss Etting's affections, was wounded in the struggle.

The radio songstress and Snyder's daughter, Edith Snyder, allegedly were menaced by the gun. Miss Snyder and Miss Etting were absent during selection of the jury yesterday, but may be called to testify today.

Snyder, free on $40,000 bail, said he had a hunch he would be "vindicated."

Snyder and Miss Etting were divorced in Chicago a year ago Miss Etting came to California and the colonel followed her.

The state charges he brooded over her friendship with Alderman and finally determined upon the showdown which resulted in the shooting of Alderman.

Defense Counsel Jerry Giesler declared Snyder's case will be built upon self-defense.

ISSUES BONDS

Monroe School Board Told State Can't Halt Move.

Monroe township school board members today had been told to go ahead with their move to issue $1,900 in bonds to provide additional funds for a school addition at Lucas, after they learned that the state tax commission had no authority to halt issuance of the bonds.

It was previously reported from Columbus that the tax commission refused to authorize the bonds because of tax limitations in the Monroe township school district.

E. C. Culler, clerk of the board, said board members were informed that the bonds were legal. They can be issued inside the 10-mill limitation without a vote of electors.

The board issued $86,000 in bonds several months ago to finance a school addition and sought the additional money when funds ran short.

Bride-to-Be Kidnaped, Held Prisoner 12 Hours, Freed

GIRL PUSHED FROM AUTO BY 2 ABDUCTORS

Captors Release Victim After Deciding She's 'Wrong Girl,' Police Informed.

(By International News Service)

NEW MARKET, Va.—Scheduled to become a bride during the Christmas holidays, Miss Margaret Bushong, 21, tossed in bed today, too weak and nervous to be questioned about the story she told police of being kidnaped and held prisoner 12 hours by two men in an automobile.

Weak and hysterical, Miss Bushong, daughter of an automobile salesman, staggered to a filling station near Harrisonburg yesterday, nervously recited meager details of the alleged kidnaping and swooned.

State police, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs R. H. Bushong, will question her during the day soon as she regains her composure.

The girl told the filling station attendant a story similar to that told by Miss Mary Brown, 18-year-old Oxon Hill, Md., schoolgirl, who claimed she was kidnaped and held prisoner 30 hours by two men in a black truck a week ago. To date the authorities have been unable to verify Miss Brown's story or find the southern Maryland shack to which she claimed she was taken.

Forced Into Car.

Miss Bushong, whose fiance is Roy Holsinger, said she was sitting in the family automobile in front of a Harrisonburg store 4 p. m. Wednesday when two men pulled up in a car and forced her to get into their machine.

"They threw me into their car," she said. "I fainted. When I regained consciousness I was in the car with the two men on a dark country road."

There, Miss Bushong said, one of the pair stated "we have the wrong girl."

"The other said," the girl continued, " 'we'd better throw her in the creek.'

"They drove around for hours. It was begining to get daylight when they stopped and pushed me out of the car and drove away. I fell down a bank and into the water of a creek but it wasn't deep. I walked around for hours. I didn't know where I was. Finally I came to the road and found the filling station."

The girl had gone to Harrisonburg with her mother to buy things for her trousseau. The filling station attendant said her clothes were wet and disheveled and that her face and arms were bruised.

Investigators said Miss Bushong was unable to describe the two men.

Detective Falls Dead Day After Killing Robber

CLEVELAND—(U P)—Less than 24 hours after he had killed a man in an attempted holdup, Detective Earl Dietrick, 40, was dead, the victim of a heart attack.

Unable to sleep, Dietrich had gotten out of bed shortly after 1 a. m. because of a tightening in his chest. He went to the kitchen to get some water as his wife, Lillian, went to the bathroom for some medicine. As she reached the bathroom she heard him fall in the kitchen.

Running to the kitchen Mrs. Dietrick found him lying on the floor. She roused neighbors who rushed him to a hospital where he was pronounced dead.

It was shortly after 1:30 a. m. yesterday that Detective Dietrick, going off duty, had continued on an unofficial tour of his own which resulted in his killing Joseph Blazer, alias Curve, 27, in an attempted holdup at a small hotel. A year ago last May Detective Dietrick, then a patrolman, shot and killed another robber in a "lover's lane" holdup. He was promoted to the rank of detective as the result of the first killing.

Up and Down THE STREET

Mansfield this Christmas season has the long and short of Santa Claus. First to make its appearance was the three-inch tall Kris Kringle being shown at the Madison theater. The newest santa, made of a light wood, made its appearance yesterday afternoon on the front of a North Main street store. The new santa is 32 feet tall, and has an arm reach of 20 feet.

A balking clock can do funny things, Phil (Wickersham) Wolfe has learned. The timepiece on the dashboard of his car had not worked regularly for sometime and he didn't bother to have it fixed. This morning while driving downtown he noticed the clock was operating again. And checking it with a downtown clock found it was timed to the minute. When or how it started are mysteries to Wolfe.

Dr. M. C. Oakes of Lexington, has put on his shoes at last—while flying. An amateur pilot, Dr. Oakes started piloting a plane last summer. Before taking off he would remove his shoes and park them in the hangar at the municipal airport so he could "get" the feel of the rudder bars more easily. But cold weather has changed all that, and now he goes aloft fully "shod" and is even considering wearing heavy overshoes.

As a master of ceremonies, J. Gilbert (Westinghouse) Baird doesn't very often slip—but he did last night at the annual banquet for the company's distributors. Baird was introducing Captain Tom Bell of the police department, but erred slightly in reading his notes and called the veteran officer "Captain Boals." But he quickly corrected the error and the crowd gave Bell the usual "big hand."

An ancient wicker chair, with a back so high that it might have been used for a throne in a South Sea island domain, is on display in a show window on Park avenue west. The chair, donated to the Volunteers of America furniture collection, is a mystery to the welfare agency which has been unable to learn anything about its history. Capt. William P. Westcott of the Volunteers said it would be sold to the highest bidder to provide funds for Christmas baskets.

CAR SMASHED

Struck by Freight Train When It Stalls on Crossing.

An Erie freight train demolished the automobile of M. J. Beery, 53 Home avenue, at the Longview avenue crossing at 8:20 p. m. yesterday. Beery was not in the car and was uninjured.

He said his car stalled on the eastbound track a few minutes before the train came along and that efforts of himself and Raymond Rachel, to whom he appealed for help, failed to move the car. Rachel lives at 611 East Longview, near the crossing.

Beery said the car was thrown 100 feet and was beyond any salvage.

SHOW PICTURE

Religious Film To Be Shown at Foursquare Church Tonight.

"The Crown of Thorns", a religious motion picture, will be shown at 7:30 p. m. today at the Foursquare Gospel church, 168 South Adams street.

The picture gives the life story of Jesus Christ, including his death, resurrection and ascension.

The picture was filmed in the Holy Land and in Egypt. The service is open to the public.

Trend's Toward Realism In Toyland, But Old Standbys Are Still Available

Tiny Cleaners, Washing Machines, Furniture Among 1939 Toys.

Realism and practicality with a good measure of the old-fashioned is the trend this year in toys, a sightseeing trip through Mansfield stores indicates. If the "Dear Santa Claus" letters of the "small fry" sound almost as impossible of fulfillment as a trip to the moon, it will do the parental eyes good to make such an excursion.

"Cute as Christmas" is really the expression to use for some new doll houses this year They are made of a medium weight construction board, and can be assembled by their small owners. Sets of pastel painted furniture that look just like mamma's can be purchased to furnish the rooms at a surprisingly low figure.

As in past years there are skates, and bikes, trucks and electric trains, dolls and rocking horses, tops and blocks, but there are also many more things.

* * *

Indicative of the trend to the practical are the small sets including dust mops, cloths, polish and other materials for keeping the house tidy, miniature vacuum cleaners, tiny wash machines, construction toys including metal and wooden sets as well as wee hammers, nails, saws and other tools for a small lad's "work shop."

With the "drinks and wets" dolls still far out in the lead as the younger mother's favorite, a new addition to the family has arrived. This doll infant blows bubbles with the aid of a toy pipe. One set includes a baby doll and a layette with everything from a tiny bar of soap to a pair of three-cornered pants.

Charlie McCarthy is appearing in all types of things, from tiny figures to nearly life-sized ones. He drives trucks, can be wound up and made to move limbs and mouth, and he is also the main figure of several new games.

* * *

Next to Charlie in popularity (or perhaps running neck and neck) are the Walt Disney toys. Snow White and her Seven Dwarfs are being used for all types of toys, picture books, and games.

Other new toys for the youngsters include small cedar chests just like big sister's, a small bridge with traffic on it, which, if wound up, will run, and a set of blocks packed in a wooden airplane.

A small merry-go-round will be the apple of many a child's eye this holiday season This contraption, which is actually a minature of the real ones in parks, could be set up in the basement or yard of most homes, and would please a small son or daughter for years to come.

There is the usual display of beautifully dressed dolls, games of skill, puzzles, books, paints, blocks, and stuffed animals. Things to ride for the big children, and carts, trucks and automobiles to pull for the small ones.

In the toy departments there is an answer to the wants of the young and the harrassed shopping worries of mothers and fathers, brothers and sisters, cousins and aunts.

PROMISES AID

Jones Says RFC Would Help Pine Paper Plants.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Convinced that newsprint can be made from southern pine, Chairman Jesse Jones of the Reconstruction Finance corporation opened the way today for loan negotiations with companies planning domestic production of such paper.

The RFC, Chairman Jones said, is "very much interested" in negotiating loans with domestic newsprint companies. He reported that the RFC had engaged in numerous conferences during the past year on projects for domestic newsprint production, adding that two loans had been made in recent months.

Chairman Jones said:

"We are satisfied that newsprint can be made from pine. We had some negotiations (for RFC aid) with a promoter in Georgia but nothing came of it because his group was unable to raise the equity money."

FARM BUSINESS SCHOOL OPENS

O. S. U. Extension Specialist To Speak at Session Monday.

Guy Miller, extension specialist at Ohio State university, will speak at 8 p. m. Monday at the first of a series of six farm business school sessions at the courthouse.

The meetings will be held weekly through January in the court of appeals room under the direction of the county extension department and County Agent George B. Ganyard.

The farm business sessions will provide free instruction for farmers concerning methods of improving the efficiency of farms and boosting rural income

CLAIM CHANCES FOR MEASURE'S PASSAGE SLIM

Anti-New Dealers Ready to Protest Unless Roosevelt Compromises Further.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Roosevelt disclosed today that he planned to send congress another message recommending legislation empowering him to reorganize government agencies.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Anti-New Deal Democrats are confident today they can defeat government reorganization legislation again unless President Roosevelt is willing to accept further compromise.

Mr. Roosevelt conferred yesterday with his reorganization bill advisers, substantiating intimations of last July that the bitterly disputed legislation again would be submitted for action.

"There is less chance of passing a reorganization bill next session than last," said Sen. Wheeler, D., Mont., "unless it is based upon affirmative action by congress."

Rejected By House.

The bill as passed by the senate last March would have permitted Mr. Roosevelt to reorganize the executive departments with his orders automatically effective after 60 days unless they were rescinded by two-thirds votes in each house of congress. The bill passed in that form after the senate barely defeated a Wheeler amendment providing that no executive reorganization order could become effective until congress specifically approved it by joint resolution. The bill finally was rejected by the house.

It is reported that Sen. Mead, D., N. Y., a 100 per cent New Dealer elected to the seat held by the late, anti-New Deal Sen. Copeland, likewise a Democrat, planned to offer the reorganization bill again in the senate next month. But Sen. Byrnes, D., S. C., who managed the legislation to senate passage last month, announced after a White House conference that the house should take the initiative this time. If the house passed a modified reorganization bill, Byrnes probably could be persuaded to guide it through the senate again.

There is general agreement among all congressional factions that government machinery desperately needs reorganization. Congress initiated current examination of reorganization in January, 1936.

'PACK' FORMED

Girl Scout Organization for Younger Girls Set Up.

The first Girl Scout Brownie Pack in the city was organized this week under the leadership of Mrs. Doris Davis. This pack is sponsored by the Central Methodist Episcopal church for girls between the ages of 7 and 10. The group will meet every Monday after school.

The original members of this first pack are: Barbara Bowles, Donna Davis, Susan Ferguson, Margaret Lindley, Harriet Lutz, Betty Lou Miller, Frankie Lane, Nancy Young, Nancy Galbraith, Marjorie Sellick, Marjorie Young, Ann Shawber, Eleanor Mathes, Marilyn Massa, Martha Shiplet and Nancy Osborn.

Miss Eleanor Bond, Girl Scout director in Mansfield, organized this new project and supervised a tea, which the girls gave for their mothers this week. During the next two weeks they are planning to make oil cloth animals to be given to children at Christmas time. The pack committee is composed of Miss Olive Grey Mrs. L. L. Shawber and Mrs. H. D. Miller. Miss Sarah Bowles is assistant leader.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Many "Progressives" See False Meaning In Acts of France's Premier Daladier

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Many Americans calling themselves progressives profess to be shocked by M. Daladier's use of his powers in France and perceive there the beginning of a Fascist regime. The politics of France are so very complex that not even Frenchmen know what it is all about, but from this distance it does appear that, under the pretext of a national emergency, one man acquired more authority than a democracy may prudently confer.

Had he used this power to promote Communism those Americans who claim to be merely progressives, not Communists but cannot be induced to say one word against "the greatest experiment for human betterment ever made," would have been pleased. For, obviously, they could not be displeased to see France also undertake the same great experiment, nor could they pretend to be displeased if the Russian experiment should one day be tried here.

* * *

But when a trusted man uses his powers to try the wrong kind of experiment that is, indeed, alarming and should be a lesson to us all, including those who euphemistically call themselves merely progressives.

The developments in France would seem to rebuke the enthusiastic faith expressed by such progressives in proposals to enlarge and solidify the powers of the American executive. Other Americans who have opposed such proposals have been intemperately denounced as Fascists, but the arguments do not foot up.

No Fascist believes in parliament or in independent courts, and no believer in democracy would want to hand over to any individual all the power and responsibility of government and abolish the function of congress by electing picked men pledged to do the bidding of the leader's messengers.

* * *

It must be a very trying life, that of the progressive who shudders at the misuse of authority which has been trustingly conferred but still feels compelled to admire the rule of Josef Stalin, who abhors the use of military force to put down a national strike as a menace to the safety of the state but finds no fault with a rule under which no man is allowed to strike or even speak out of turn.

But possibly it will be said that it is all right to confer great powers if you know your man; that it is all right to do it here but not in France, and that dictatorship is not wrong of itself if it is anti-capitalist. That does not seem to be the position of those so-called progressives who are otherwise known as 'fellow-travelers of the Communists." But in demanding such powers for Mr. Roosevelt it is possible that they have misjudged their man and that, given such powers and conditions similar to those which occurred in France, he, too, would disappoint them.

There never have been any proletarian Roosevelts, nor have any of the Roosevelts even gone to the public schools, and it was John L. Lewis himself who once accused the president of having cursed impartially both labor and its enemies. This Mr. Lewis interpreted as a rather special curse on labor.

* * *

The showdowns between labor leaders—not labor—and public authority in this country have been mere bullpen exercises to date, and with luck the nation as a whole will never have to engage in 'varsity competition of this kind. But there is no assurance in Mr. Roosevelt's record that, in the event of such a showdown, he would use the authority which the fellow-travelers have bespoken for him in a manner to gratify those who admire the Soviet experiment. They may be thinking of a future president who could be relied on, but that is highly speculative. The next president might be a man who, given such powers and such a crisis would do as Daladier has done.

All this being so and the risks being what they are, the people are the best guardians of their own power. And those who opposed the court plan, reorganization, the purge and the political use of public money may inquire, with a nod to France, "how am I doin', honey?"

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—They've about given up trying to "glamorize" Pauline Moore. And if they'd ask me, which they won't, I'd say "Fine!"

Hollywood glamor is all right, in its way. It used to be that a girl who didn't have it didn't have IT, either. But you can't say that any more and be truthful.

This Pauline Moore, of course, is a hopeless case. She's sweet and pretty and she looks a little like Norma Shearer. She looks 18, and they say she can act. After a couple of years of minor roles, she is having her chance as the romantic lead in "The Three Musketeers" —and that is why they want to turn on the guns and spray her well with glamor.

But what does she do? She talks about her baby. Eleven months old. And then she gets around, casually, to mentioning the baby's sister Oh, yes, she has two children. Both girls, and such fun! The older is three. And her husband? Oh, yes, he's Jefferson Machamer, the artist.

* * *

She looks so young to be the mother of two? "Do I? Well, I'm really 24. It's funny—but Warner Baxter thought I was terribly young too. I'll never forget—they sent me over to take a test with him—for 'Slave Ship'—and he took one look at me and refused to do it. It broke my heart—but that was two years ago. . . ." She laughs; it wasn't a very serious heartbreak

And what does she do between pictures, as now? "Well, it isn't very interesting—but I'm making over clothes, letting out hems. . . . You know how it is, every mother has a drawer full of things to mend, and I—I'm just getting around to a frightful accumulation of stuff. . . . They grow so quickly, don't they?"

The glammer-chaser by this time is weak. "Uh-huh, they do."

Ambition? "Well, I'd like to be a good actress. It's a funny business—you feel you have to stay in it until you've done at least one good thing—and then I suppose you hate to let it go so you keep on. . . . Have you any children?"

So I say again, it's fine. It's not, as we say, very good copy. It's too normal, too up-and-up, to be in the least sensational. Or isn't it? Come to think of it, Miss Pauline Moore is practically a freak—of normality. Maybe they ought to put her in a glass case and exhibit her—once a week—for the benefit of all the town's pathetic little scatterbrains who wear themselves out trying to be "different," or "exotic," or "glamorous!"

* * *

Sally Berkeley is the brunette's friend. She puts a shine on the dark-haired actresses. On their hair, in the right places, so it'll have a lively glow for the camera, as sometimes it doesn't naturally.

She's on the "Gambling Ship" set, gilding Helen Mack, and you can see it's a sort of gold paste she uses Secret, she says. First tried it on Lupe Velez, has frequently burnished the tresses of Ann Dvorak and Evelyn Venable.

Off-screen, says Sally, it isn't practical because too obvious.

Obvious or subtle, Lupe liked it. Lupe does what she likes. She used to wear it everywhere.

ILLNESS FATAL

George J. Smith, 57, a lifelong resident of Mansfield, died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Thomas Fike, Garden Acres, Thursday after a brief illness. He was born Sept. 11, 1881, and is survived by his sister and a borther, Harry of Ashland.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home where services will be held at 9:30 a. m. Saturday. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

Skinflint Generally Loses Girl

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Stinginess sheds friends as a duck's back sheds water. The miserly persons who take and never give are the male equivalent of the daughters of the horse leech, mentioned in the Bible, who cried: "Give, give."

Six Ways To Lose Him, Or Her.

Please bear in mind that not a word of this diatribe applies to men who have plenty of generous impulses and would gladly yield to them, if it were possible.

Sometimes when I get letters full of sympathy for such men, written by girls who want only the friendship of those who are temporarily hard-up and object to a penny being spent on treats or amusement, I have a feeling that there's a bright side to poverty after all. Take this letter, for instance:

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"If he would only understand that I don't want him to take me places. When he had his car, he was so good about taking mother and me everywhere we wanted to go, and now we'd like to do our part since he's lost his job and seems so unhappy. But I can't get him to come over in the nice friendly way he did once.

"We've asked him to have dinner with us, time and time again, as a slight return for all the nice things he has done for us, but he always makes some excuse. I know he's a victim of his own stubborn pride. He's too good a boy to remain unemployed. And we wish he'd understand how we feel about him.

"Mary."

I wish there were space to print more such letters, which prove conclusively not all girls want to have money spent on them as the stingy brethren seem to think. The type who is more than welcome to our pillory party is the one who turns up smiling for meals and never thinks of taking the one who prepares them to even a half-price movie.

He may give nineteen-cent candy because he's a nineteen-cent sort of man, and giving even that has caused a terrific colic in his pocketbook. He is amazed that his sweetheart hasn't written him a charming letter, commending his generosity, and he wonders why she is out, out, out, when he calls. If he's a genuine skinflint, however, the handsome present the girl sent him will prove a great comfort, even if he never hears from her again.

Novel Items to Present to Lady Of Your Choice On Christmas

By LYDIA GRAY SHAW
(AP Feature Service Writer)

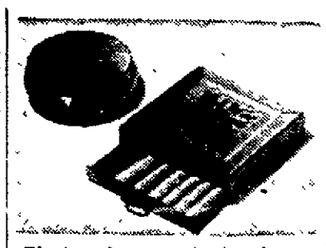
The stores are all set to make it simple this year for the fellow concerned with making his gift tops in the Christmas memories of the lady of his heart.

The Third Of Four Articles

The range of cosmetics and jewelry always makes it easy to find fancy gifts for the girls, but a major problem is to make the gift one that means very definitely "from me to you."

If you seek to stress that idea, you can have any kind of greeting, in your own handwriting etched on a gold-plated compact. You can draw pictures if you want or trot out any little sentiment you have in mind.

Or how about a book? People still read, and a carefully selected book, which shows you acknowledge the lady's intellect, makes a good gift. Not in the usual books-flowers-candy tradition, either. Books, says one shopping counselor sagely, are coming back as gifts. Try to plow through that store's book department and you are convinced of it.



Plenty of compacts to choose from.

Maybe the only love of your lady's heart is a dog and "Love me, love my dog" might apply.

Latest on the dog market is Ferdinand the Bull, made of rubber and looking just like Munro Leaf's immortal as he sniffed the flowers. Any playful pup would relish pushing Ferdinand's face in.

If you need a glamour gift for a glamour girl, there are some lovely evening bags, all shapes and materials. Gloves are fancy too. Some in mocha, which ordinarily would be lined with fur, come now lined with white velvet and make a pretty present.

Jewelry by the ton strews department store show cases. Men, says the stores' female shoppers, instinctively have good taste along that line.

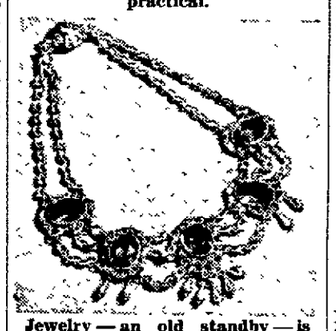
For a woman of the world, there's a globe which has a light inside and can be used as a lamp when the lady isn't taking a look at Europe's new boundaries.

You see, it's an easy job You can do it on a few dollars. All you need is the girl.

* * *

Next: Gifts for the boy friend.

Desk trinkets are bright and practical.



Jewelry — an old standby — is still good.

A regular globe—also an attractive lamp.

Noses Not Nearly So Bad To See

By MME. QUI VIVE

Noses are maligned by their owners. If a girl could select a nose as she selects a new frock she wouldn't take the model that nature gave her. Yet few noses are ugly. Most of them suit the general composition of the face, get along with the other features without fighting.

In the individual case it is assumed that the nose is too long too short, too round or too pointed, too snubby or bumpy. According to our point of view any nose is a good one that keeps out of other people's affairs, doesn't riot during hay fever season, or fancy it is a stop light, blooming like the red, red rose.

* * *

If it is of freaky formation, tires the soul, being saddle back, bulbous, humped or twisted, it can be taken to the plastic surgeon for remodeling. Surgeons of high standing in their profession do this work. But they operate only on cases that are so unsightly that they interfere with happiness, are really eyesores. If your nose defect is a minor one, they won't bother with you. And most of them are.

A nose that shines like a good deed in a naughty world will reform if the diet contains less fats and sweets, more green vegetables and fruit juices. Local treatment consist of cold compresses followed by a rinsing with cold water to which a few drops of simple tincture of benzoin have been added. A light powder must be substituted for the heavy one which, oftimes, is responsible for the mirrorlike shimmer.

Fashions

By MARIAN MARTIN

Instead of "slenderizing" your menus so much, slenderize your figure with frocks like this—a pretty new, at-home creation by Marian Martin!

Pattern 9918 may be ordered only in women's sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 36 requires 4½ yards 35 inch fabric, and 4⅝ yards ruffling.

Send 15 cents in coins for this Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your size, name, address, and style number.

Send your order to the Mansfield News-Journal, Pattern Department, 232 W. 18th St., New York, N. Y.

Poinsettia plants do best in a warm, moist climate. They are hardy drinkers, preferring water that is not too cold.

A little candied ginger, finely chopped, gives zest to a fruit cocktail, salad or sherbet. It is also good added to whipped cream and used to top puddings. Be careful to use just a little of it, however.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

Another searching look around revealed no trace of the trailing detective, and with Mary close at my side, I hurried through the huge Pennsylvania station and the labyrinth of corridors leading to the Long Island station, where we finally came to rest in the women's room.

Miss Whitlock rose from an arm chair in the corner and came forward to greet us.

"You made good time," she commented. "I've been here only a short time."

"We've been running," Mary said with a little moue. "Auntie Madge is sure some sprinter—as well as some swell strategist."

"I take it then," Miss Whitlock said with a smile, "that you have thrown off the dog on your trail."

"He's stymied somewhere between the Landsfield and the department store which is in a direct line with the hotel only two streets below," Mary said gleefully.

"Luckily there aren't many women in here this afternoon, or I couldn't have snatched these," she said. "And I have your luggage safe. Have you time to sit down?"

"Plenty," I told her. "Our biggest task is over. We'll catch our respective breaths now and tell you all the rest of the things you ought to know."

"Let's not say anything for two minutes," Mary pleaded whimsically. With a smile at her, Miss Whitlock and I leaned back in our comfortable chairs and rested, while Mary stretched herself in graceful cat-like fashion before curling down against her cushions.

"You may take a nap, Mary, if you like," I said, wrinkling my nose at her. "What I am going to tell Miss Whitlock you know already, and you might as well be 'snatching your 40 winks'."

"Make it 45," she said impudently, and promptly closed her eyes.

"You probably have guessed," I began, and the nurse sat up with suddenly attentive eyes, "that all this talk of the Jersey coast and a trip for Mary is camouflage."

"Yes, I surmised as much," she said, and then spoke no more while I hurriedly outlined my plan for giving Noel a reunion with Mary, and named the hotel where Noel was waiting for us.

When I had finished, her eyes were sparkling with excited interest.

"What a splendid scheme!" she said. "If only we can keep it from Mr. Veritzen."

"He called up this afternoon," I said.

Her eyes widened with anxiety. "Does he guess?" she asked.

"Not now, I am sure," I told her, and gave her an account of the telephone conversation. At the end of it she gave a little sigh of patent relief.

"That sounds as if he might stay put for a little while, at least," she said, and then added quickly:

"And now, will you let me go over exactly what I am to say to the hotel clerk, to Mr. Veritzen, if he calls up, and to anyone else—from the farmhouse, for example—who calls?"

"Please do," I said, and listened while she went through a letter perfect rendition of the instructions I had given her.

"Couldn't be better," I told her, and then added:

"And now I come to the most important matter of all, that of communication with me."

"That presents its difficulties, doesn't it?" she asked.

"Yes, but not insurmountable ones," I returned. "Of course, in case of the gravest emergency, such as extreme illness"—I would not utter the word "death"—"or accident, you will have to call me at the hotel under the name I have given you, taking care that you talk from a telephone away from the hotel, and one which you are sure is free from observation. For the rest, I am sure this scheme will work. Please tell me what you think of it when I have finished outlining it."

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, Dec. 10.

The progress of this day seems to be threatened by a tendency to "fly off the handle" or do things of a tempestuous, reckless or impetuous character, which possibly may have detrimental consequences in business or in the private life. With proper control of strenuous and turbulent inclinations, there is prospect of many decided benefits of a definite nature. New contracts, speculative enterprises and personal adventures in a social or romantic manner are likely.

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy a very active, progressive and prosperous year if they will not attempt to put over promising matters by main force, high pressure or impetuosity. These will react in quarrels, hostility and defeat. With moderation and calm deliberation, there are benefits from new contracts or speculation. There should be happy adventures of a private or romantic character.

A child born on this day may have a very determined and probably wayward and reckless character, attempting to win out against all obstacles and stresses. This attitude may incur much opposition, enmity and consequent defeat of many excellent prospects.

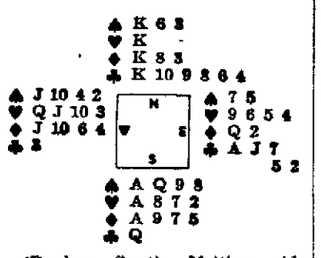
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

COUNT YOUR ENTRIES

PLAYING FAST is all right, so long as you are not playing carelessly. It takes only a moment to count the number of entries in the dummy and figure how many of them you require to bring in an establishable suit by one method or how many by an alternative method. Simple reckoning like that may show you the absolute necessity of overtaking a singleton honor of your own hand so as to get a second lead of the suit from dummy before disturbing the entries in other suits



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable).

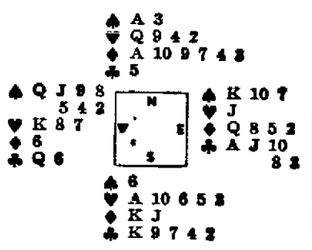
South bid 1-Spade on this deal, North 2-Clubs, South 2-No Trump and North 3-No Trump.

The heart Q was led by West and won by dummy's singleton. Next came the club 4 to the Q and a spade to the K. Declarer then laid down the club K with the hope that the A would win and that the J would drop from the other opponent's hand. However, as they were bunched in the East hand, the declarer was able to win only three spades, two hearts, two diamonds and one club because of his shortage of entries into dummy to establish the clubs.

If on the first club lead South had played the K the opponents could have taken two club tricks, but dummy would have had two entries when the clubs were set up.

* * *

Tomorow's Problem.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable).

With the spade Q led against his 4-Heart contract, how should South plan the hand?

ORGANIZE FIGHT ON FLOOD TAXES

Coshocton County Residents Form Defense League on Muskingum Assessments.

(By Associated Press)

COSHOCTON—A group of Coshocton county residents, organized as the Tri-Valley Defense League, is seeking support in its "tax strike" against December assessments on property for Muskingum conservancy district flood control benefits.

O. A. Olinger, league president, said the organization was formed to oppose assessments until the federal government eased the present burden on property owners in the conservancy district.

Olinger estimated 200 persons attended last night's session, at which the "strike" was voted.

C. B. Mugford, mayor of Newcomerstown, invited Olinger to send a Coshocton delegation to a similar protest meeting there Dec. 14. Another meeting is scheduled here Dec. 16.

Considerable sentiment has been expressed by property owners in the conservancy district for the government to pay the full cost of the huge flood control project.

CHAPTER 18

"I didn't. But I guessed. You see, she was just applying what I told you to apply. Smart girls know how to entertain men. She knew instantly that you would talk about yourself, and your interests. Now, you go back and lead her into talking about herself, and her interests. The same trick will work both ways. Women use it to win men. Men can use it to win women."

"I shall try," he promised. "I am determined to try everything you order. I am convinced that you are a most remarkable woman."

"Girl, Thorny."

"Girl," he amended.

* * *

CLEOPATRA came in and Sara Sue left Dr. Holgate for a moment to give her a pointer or two regarding lunch. Meanwhile, her guest sat thinking. Thinking deeply.

"Oh, persimmons, Cleo!"

"Yassum. It was some on the fruit countah, and I remembahed you-all liked 'em. Fust ones this season, the man say."

"Fine!"

Few fruits are more delicious than the wild Texas persimmon, touched to delectable sweetness by early frost. Sara Sue washed a dish of them and came back to the living room. Dr. Holgate, reared in Yankeedom, had never tasted them before.

"Delicious," he declared. "Do you serve fruits to all your guests?"

"No. You are special. I couldn't afford to, with all the students who have memberships here."

"You have 100 members, you said?"

"Yes. You were No. 100, Thorny."

"How did you happen to conceive so clever an idea?"

"Well, I don't know exactly. I just got to thinking. Mother and I had limited cash. She's Larry's mother, really, you know. But I love her very much. I could have hunted a downtown job. But Thorny, I just didn't want to slave in some office or store for a few dollars a week!"

"No, indeed. I commend you for it. Your ingenuity is to be praised."

"Well, I just happened onto it. I guess. I talked to my banker friend. And a lawyer. And just went into it. The plan has certainly worked out fine."

"Have you some sort of training for work of this sort, Sara Sue?"

"No. None whatever. I just drew from my own background."

"Tell me about your background."

"Well, I mean my love life, so far as this is concerned. You see, I knew—I absolutely knew—that love is very poignant when you are at college age. The colleges don't realize that enough. It causes much trouble, much heartache. I was in love, and married when I could have been a freshman. I don't mean to bring up my personal history that way, but it gave me this idea.

"And, then I have seen my friends need help. So few people will try to understand boys and girls in love, don't you think? Usually they just laugh at them. That's wrong, Thorny. Love is—is magnificent, I guess. It is what makes people happy or unhappy."

Thornton nodded agreement.

"Have you—experienced romance—since?" He expressed genuine interest.

"Me? Oh! Well, no. That is, a couple of the fellows are kidding me a lot. Three of them really. You know about that, because Bob Towne talks all the time, the big silly. He's a dear boy, but I'm not in love with him. He goes around telling all the gang that I'm his girl, but everybody knows it doesn't mean anything. But you know, Thorny, a girl likes that, even so! It sort of tickles her vanity, I guess." She paused to giggle.

"Quite so," Thornton agreed. Has he proposed marriage? If you ask. Yes, he has asked me a dozen times, I suppose. I just tease back at him. I will say one thing, though, he never tries to get too fresh or anything like that. I can't stand men that get too intimate. Have another persimmon, Thorny."

"Thank you. You mean you have other admirers, too?"

"Yes, I mean, a couple of the boys are asking for dates some, and I enjoy going out with them. But there's nothing serious to either of them. I do not intend to get married again. What are your ideas on second marriage, Thorny?"

"What are yours?"

"Well, I just don't know. I was terribly in love with Larry Davis. But it doesn't hurt to think about it now, and in fact I almost never think about it. Time does change things an awful lot. I was very young, then."

* * *

Sara Sue spoke as if she were a matron in her late fifties now. She was gazing seriously at her dog, Nightmare, who was stretched on the rug near her.

"But I am sure I could never be in love like that again. Or maybe I could, I don't know."

Dr. Holgate was watching her closely.

"I think," said he, "that you deserve a lot of credit, for adjusting yourself as you have."

"Well, I just couldn't sit down and mope all my life."

"To be sure. And you doubtless enjoy the business end of your Cottage Plan."

"There's not much. Cleo is a good cook. She's loyal to me. Calculus does the heavy work—he's Cleo's husband, you know. Mother helps a great deal when she's here. For my part, I enjoy the constant house-party atmosphere."

"That's because you are young, isn't it?"

"I guess so. I hadn't given it any th—"

All at once Sara Sue Davis stopped.

She had been lifting a persimmon to her lips, but she held it now mid-way and stared at Dr. Thornton Holgate as if in consternation.

"Thor-ny Hol-gate!" she suddenly exclaimed. "I just hate you!"

There had been a twinkle in his eye. Now he burst into real laughter. He laughed more heartily, more naturally, than she had ever heard him before.

"You were doing it on purpose!" she exclaimed. "Weren't you? . . . Weren't you? . . . Weren't you just trying to make me talk about myself?"

"But you commanded me to!" he blushed, partly at his temerity, partly in gladness at the success of his coup. "Did you not say I should lead other persons into talking of themselves? I knew your instructions to be sound. So I set in to apply them. And I am quite sure they worked admirably!"

He was as happy as if he had killed a bear. He had overcome shyness for one brief quarter hour. Now, if he could only master himself like that, get that same confident control of himself, when in the presence of Miss Pomeroy—

He discussed that yearning with Sara Sue.

"You can!" she assured him. "You are a brilliant pupil, Thorny. You took the lesson right out of my hands. But after all, you DO have a Ph. D degree. Weren't you Phi Beta Kappa, too?"

He nodded.

"I thought I had seen your key. Well, you have the brains, of course. You had just gotten acquainted with me, enough to feel at ease. It's proof of what you can do. I am so happy for you!" She smiled admiringly at him.

Dr. Holgate left her cottage in a positive glow.

He even whistled some as he walked across Main boulevard and back onto the campus. But there he encountered a fellow professor, and paused for a chat. Before he realized it he was his old self again. Stilted. Formal. Scholarly.

* * *

The other man happened to be old Pettigrew, of biology, who smelled eternally of dead animal matter anyway, and who was a social boor of 60-odd years. People said he was smart in his science, but he was uncouth otherwise. He exerted a counter-influence on Holgate, after the delightful session with Sara Sue.

Holgate moved on, feeling older.

SEARS, ROEBUCK AND CO.

Oh boy! Give me a taste!

IF YOU LIKE real, old-fashioned butterscotch flavor, you're going to be crazy about the new Jell-O Butterscotch Pudding!

It's a tempting, creamy, taffy-colored pudding—luscious with good brown sugar.

And yet it's a "quick" pudding! You simply add milk to the contents of a package—cook a few minutes until thick and smooth—and serve. So easy a child can make it! So good your family will all want "second helps."

Two other wonderful flavors!

Besides Butterscotch there are two other marvelous new Jell-O Puddings. There's Chocolate—a rich, creamy pudding with a deep chocolaty flavor.

And Vanilla Pudding—made with real vanilla to give it that home-made taste!

Ask for the new Jell-O Puddings today. All three are at your grocer's for the same low price as Jell-O.

LISTEN IN: Jack Benny and the Jell-O Program every Sunday night, 7 o'clock, NBC Red Network.
